S.S.F. City Manager McKenzie Fired

'Call It Lack Of Confidence'—Ahern; 3-2 Vote

By BOB PETERSON

Stunned silence and disbelief hit South San Francisco's council chambers Monday as city Manager Tom McKenzie was methodically fired in less than five minutes by a split vote of the city board.

Assistant City Manager Larry Ross was quickly and unanimously voted acting city manager. Mayor Patrick Ahern instructed Ross to advertise immediately for a new city manager.

Councilman Frank Bertucelli said Ross should receive extra compensation for acting as city manager. Ahern said that would be worked out at a later date.

3 to 2 Vote

Councilman Frank Mammini was quick to point out that the executive session decision was carried out by a 3-2 vote.

Mayor Ahern confirmed that the majority vote was himself and Councilmen Bill Borba and Bertucelli. Councilman Warren Steinkamp joined Mammini in opposing the move.

It was shortly after 10 p.m. when the council had completed the regular agenda and Mayor Ahern asked for an executive session. He did not stipulate for what purpose.

Less than five minutes after McKenzie joined the council in the session he walked out and calmly said, "I've just been fired."

"Lack of Confidence"

Although obviously not satisfied with McKenzie, Mayor Ahern seemed hard-pressed to come up with a specific reason for the firing. He finally said "Call it a lack of confidence (in McKenzie)."

Both Borba and Bertucelli, like Ahern, were hesitant to elaborate on the move. All preferred to refer to the privileged communication aspect of the executive session for not talking.

Mayor Ahern did say that the firing "has been coming for some time." He said McKenzie was asked to resign or be terminated. "McKenzie should be the person to talk to," said Ahern.

Not Surprised

McKenzie was tight-lipped, too. He appeared shocked, but apparently not surprised, and seemed convinced that the vote was taken long before last night.

As to why he preferred firing to resigning, McKenzie answered with a question: "What is the difference?"

The irony of the move is that this same council majority (plus Mammini and Steinkamp) not more than a month ago gave McKenzie an unsolicited $1,800 a year raise. This would, in most instances, indicate an employe is pleasing his boss.

The unspoken reasons become obvious in reviewing the happenings of the past year-and-a-half. From the outset, McKenzie operated under the belief he was hired with full managerial powers.

Usurped

As time went on McKenzie more and more apparently felt this traditionally professional control was being usurped by a council majority.

This fact first became publically evident this past February, less than a year after his employment, when he had a bitter verbal exchange with then-Mayor Bertucelli.

McKenzie, who during his time in South San Francisco has earned the respect fo fellow employes as being "a fair man," took a stand in defense of public abuse of employes by the Council.

It was the first attempt by McKenzie to test the boundaries of his authority. He told Bertucelli that if he wanted to criticize the city staff he should do it in the city manager's office, not in public.

At that time Lou Goss, director of public works, was put behind the eight ball, as he had been on numerous occasions, when he was unable to come up with an immediate statistic.

Blowout

More recently, McKenzie tangled with Ahern over whether the city manager had the authority to grant employes permission to attend and teach col-

A Move In Daly City To Look After The 'Little Guy' Started

By FRANK LaPIERRE

A move to protect the "little guy" in Daly City got under way Monday.

The simple request for a parking zone in front of the BART market on Knowles Avenue touched off a discussion on how best to protect small merchants from giant organizations — such as the Bay Area Rapid Transit District — that may disrupt thei rnormal business for prolonged periods.

Such disruptions could spell loss of money and, in some cases, loss of an entire business, to maller merchants.

BART Dis scheduled to soon start construction of a temporary overpass next to the market and thereafter begin building the station itself.

This could cause the small BART market to lose revenues.

In a plea to the council the owner, Mr. Jermillo, explained the present praking regulations in front of his store do not allow customers to conveniently hop.

He asked for, and received, a 12-minute green zone that will enable patrons to park and shop, but will discourag others from parking and leaving their cars blocking access for prolonged periods.

Once BARTD begins revamping the area, other plans might have to be made, council members felt.

Stps must be taken to insure these small businesses do not unduly suffer from the effects of such developments as the BARTD station, the councilmen agreed.

An Exchange Of Barbs On SSF Jet Noise

It obviously was a night for rifts Monday evening in South San Francisco, as Councilmen Bill Borba and Frank Mammini got into a not-too-nice verbal exchange after Borba challenged Mammini's persistence in seeking an answer to the jet noise problem in the city.

Mammini had inquired of City Attorney John Noonan at what point Noonan was in his quest of a method of controlling the noise.

Noonan explained again how he was attempting to use regulatory powers instead of a class action law suit to fight the problem. He said he hoped to have his proposal in a form presentable to the aeronautics board by the next council meeting.

Meanwhile Borba jumped on Mammini for bringing the matter up without first broaching the subject in a study session. It was an apparent counter response to Borga's recent chastisement for being instrumental in pushing through the overpass, that subsequently was defeated by angry voters.

Mammini patiently explained to Borba that a councilman could bring up any subject concerning the health and welfare of the citizens during the Good and Welfare portion of the meeting.

Borba insisted that Mammini, who has kept a constant vigil on Noonan to produce a plan of attack, should have informed the full council of this intention to bring the subject up again Monday night.

"This is ridiculous," said Mammini.

Borba insisted it wasn't.

Mammini suggested that perhaps Borba (being new on the

Merchants' Tax

A Mind-Boggling Plan Of Reporting

Formulation of a plan for reporting gross receipts of merchants operating in Daly City under the new business license tax is fast becoming a mind boggler.

No one in City Hall seems to know exactly what type of form, or what system of reporting will be used.

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett and the city council have asked the staff to come up with a system for simplifying the reporting proceedures—a system that could easily be checked on if the occasion arose.

Monday, Finance Director John B. Massen proposed that the gross figure used to report gross receipts to the State and Federal governments be used.

This would not only simplify a reporting company's bookkeeping when the time came to the city on the new tax, but would enable the city to audit a merchant's account with speed and economy, providing the State Franchise Tax Board agreed to go along with Daly City.

Many questions continue to crop up around the "whys" and "Hows" of the new ordinance and Massen requested additional time to work out the details.

An example of some of the red tape that has been written into the new law is the reporting of corporate officials of a company, partnerships and fictitious names—plus their addresses.

Massen thinks this information is an expensive waste of time, but he must comply because it is written into the new law.

The council directed him to send out the forms asking such information and "wait for the replies."

Future handling of this matter will depend, in part, on the response given by the firms concerned, Massen was told.

October 1 is the start of the reporting date for the tax and companies must comply in November by sending in their checks on anticipated receipts.

More Study

A proposed sidewalk assessment district for upgrading San Bruno's San Mateo Avenue business district has been tabled for further study by city councilmen.

AN AWARD FOR BOARD PROPOSED

The Jefferson Union High School District Teachers Association (JUHSDTA) has nominated its district Board of Trustees to receive the Thom McAn National School Board Award.

Mary Ann Holden, president of JUHSDTA, disclosed the nomination in a letter to JUHSD trustees, meeting in Daly City, last night.

She said the nomination is based on the board's efforts toward the recently-ratified memorandum agreement with teachers without a strike or threat of a strike.

The award is given annually by the Association of Classroom Teachers through the National Education Association.

It is given to a local school board that demonstrates leadership in advancing public education in their community, explained Miss Holden.

Endorsement was obtained Monday from the Jefferson Council of P-TAs.

Junior College Sports Cuts?

Skyline Coach Expects 'Blanket' Cuts--If Any--In Program

By JOHN HORGAN

With the defeat of a proposed 14-cent tax increase in last week's election, there is now a very real chance that the athletic program of the College of San Mateo will be either cut back drastically or eliminated altogether in the coming fiscal year.

According to CSM President Dr. Robert Ewigleben, the financial situation at the school is such that revisions in the budgets of all departments are now being studied and, he said, among the first things to go if cutbacks must be made will be athletics and other "ancillary services" (drama, etc.).

Dr. Ewigleben said Monday that he has ordered letters to be written to all of CSM's opponents in the next fiscal year informing them that CSM might not be able to meet its contractual obligations. "We don't want anyone to be shocked later in the year," he explained.

He has also ordered the physical education department to study ways in which the coaching staff might be assimilated into the regular P.E. teaching schedule. This would mean, he noted, a probable cutback in staff.

Dr. Ewigleben said there is always the chance that the proposed tax increase may be put back on the ballot in the future. And, if it is passed at that time, such cuts won't be necessary, he said.

He added that, "It is ironic that such moves are being contemplated now since the school has probably its best football team in modern times this season.

"The analogy between the team and school as a whole is apt," he went on. "The team has begun to jell and so has the school. We thought this would be the best year we have had since I've been here. But now we have to formulate a whole new game plan.

"Our administrative team has found the

Breakwater Project Bids Authorized

South San Francisco councilmen Monday night authorized a call for bids on a breakwater project at the Oyster Point Marina.

The estimated project cost of $83,000 by Assistant City Engineer Ray Maxwell produced some heated discussion between Councilman Bill Borba and (now) ex-City Manager Tom McKenzie.

McKenzie had informed the council that there was $56,000 remaining in the marina construction fund and if the council were to approve a call for bids, the remainder of the construction cost would have to come from sales tax capital improvement funds.

Borba jumped in and said he was under the impression that an earlier estimate of $30,000 or $40,000 would be the top figure.

McKenzie explained that the city doesn't know the construction cost until a complete engineering study such as Maxwell's has been taken.

Lou Goss, director of public works, said the first estimate was "a shotgun estimate, not accurate, rather a rough estimate."

Borba continued to pursue the matter of the increased cost and McKenzie remarked that since Borba was new to the council it was understandable that he was unfamiliar with engineering procedures.

Borba shot back that he may be new to the council, but

Violation By Principal Claimed

S.S.F. School Policy Furor

By WILL E. THOMAS

A veteran South San Francisco principal Monday claimed he was not allowed to give his side of an alleged charge that he distributed a report to South San Francisco Unified School District trustees without administration clearance.

"Pete" Da Prato, principal of Martin Elementary School for over 20 years, told an audience of over 80 persons he had been charged by Supt. Paul Nielsen with violating district policies in distributing information on structured kindergarten classes to two two members of the district's Board of Trustees.

The principal talked immediately after adjournament of Monday's regular trustee meeting by Chairman Leo Padreddii, who announced "no action" would be taken outside the 52-minute executive session trustees had just concluded.

Commenting that he was "sorry" the trustees would not listen to his viewpoints in the apparent row with Dr. Nielsen, Da Prato went on to explain from his point-of-view the ramifications of the issue.

He charged Dr. Nielsen didn't "have the nerve" to stay and listen.

"We'll stay, we'll stay," voices from the audience shouted, with some adding, "We need a new board!"

Da Prato read a letter, that he said was hand-carried to him from Dr. Nielsen's office, directing him to appear for Monday's executive session.

He said he was not called to enter with the board into the closed-door session, even though he told Chairman Padreddii he wanted to.

Da Prato acknowledged he had sent two trustees some material regarding formal, structured kindergartens, which he opposed and which the board has considered, but not approved.

He said he regarded the material as strictly informational, not a "report" as assertedly claimed by Dr. Nielsen.

Da Prato explained that he went to the two unmentioned trustees because he thought them to be "more interested" in the philosophy of education, rather than "finances," as he believed the other three to be.

He decried the "humiliation," that resulted and his assertion the superintendent should publicly apologize brought concurrence from the crowd, that also reacted when Da Prato said he

Scaled-Down S.S.F. Reading Program Wins Green Light

A Miller-Unruh Basic Reading Act program, cut back by 25 per cent, Monday was approved by South San Francisco Unified School District trustees.

Superintendent Paul Nielsen explained the district's reducing reading specialists from 12 to nine this year, was the result of state decreases in budgeting — from an needed $24 million to $18 million.

Nielsen noted the district had an option of running the program at the 75 per cent level dictated by available state funds or maintaining the program, utilizing district funds to make up the difference.

But, Dr. Nielsen expressed concern over having an undistributed reserve that would amount, he said, to only $17,000 monthly to handle costs not budgeted; the unforeseen.

Nielsen said that reading specialists in high-achieving schools would be eliminated — one teacher at Monte Verde and one serving both Foxridge and Skyline at present.

The third teacher would be cut by reducing full-time teacher service in schools with comparatively smaller enrollment and average achievement in the district — "in all probability Avalon and Serra Vista."

In a report to the board, Nielsen pointed out, "In reducing the program because of unanticipated excess district costs, we feel that the program would not be radically affected, since those schools who have evidenced the greatest need to improve reading skills would continue to have the same full-time Miller-Unruh teacher service."

He added that teachers eliminated from the remedial reading program will be assigned either to regular class duty or as a contractual substitutes until a regular classroom vacancy occurs.

Trustee Bill Starmer, who earlier rapped split-grade consolidation of some classes, suggested the administration use the displaced reading teachers to avoid consolidations.

He earlier had gone along with other members of the board and the administration in approving class-size adjustments, even though he disapproved, since principals had been given the option on split-grade classrooms and had chosen combinations.

A classroom average of 26.1 is being maintained, administrators said.

Nielsen said the moves were necessary because the undistributed reserve had dipped to $173,271, creating an availability of but $17,000 monthly.

He said 39 school districts

Mystery Still Plagues D.C.

Why Was Ten-Foot-Wide Strip Of Land Deeded?

The mystery of why a ten-foot wide strip of land in the Southern Hills area of Daly City was deeded to the city as a right-of-way continued to plague some members of the council Monday.

Admittedly the city has received other deded rights of way for streets in housing areas, but none that plunge down a 42 foot drop.

Residents of the Southern Hills section recalled Monday that the developer of the tract — Sunstream Homes — promised them a stairway would be constructed to give them ready access from the top of Mira Vista court to South Hill Boulevard, thus saving them many minutes of walking time, not to mention sore feet.

A homeowners delegation recently approached officials of the company, however, and were told no such arrangements had been made for a stairway, homeowners' president Frank Harrison said.

But there on maps recorded with the city of Daly City and smaller maps contained in booklets handed out to buyers in the door literally slammed in its face. The psychology of the thing is devastating."

CSM's sister schools, Skyline in San Bruno and Canada in Redwood City, are both faced with the same critical financial problems.

Although their athletic programs are not quite as extensive as San Mateo's, they too must now study their priorties and come up with recommendations for their individual presidents.

Gordon Grey, chairman of Canada's physical education department, said Monday that his staff has been asked to "remain calm" and to "refrain from public comment" about the situation. But he did acknowledge that a review of his department is under way. "No letters have been sent out to other schools," he said.

In all cases, it must be noted that the Board of Trustees of the district as a whole will make final decisions on all such budgetary matters, Grey emphasized.

Walt Rilliet, chairman of the P.E. Department at Skyline, said Monday that what Dr. Ewigleben has ordered at CSM may well be forthcoming at the other schools as well. "He may be just a step or two ahead of the rest of us in this," Rilliet said.

"I'm sure that any cuts in programs won't be on an individual basis, they will be a blanket thing," he said. Rilliet expressed great dismay over the prospect of having the sports program eliminated and noted that, "This is awfully discouraging. I can't imagine San Mateo County junior colleges without a sports program. But that's the way it appears right now.

"As I told a youngster the other day, if you don't have any money, you don't get any lunch. And that's what happened to us."

Brawl Ends In Shooting

A barooom altercation Thursday in South San Francisco ended with one man hospitalized with a bullet wound in the arm and another held by police on charges of assault with intent to commit murder.

South San Francisco police issued a prepared press release on the incident this morning saying Edward Walters, 48, had been shot in the arm and Leslie Myron Grubbs, 56, was to be arraigned on a variety of charges this morning.

No addresses were given on the men, however, both were said to be South San Francisco residents.

According to the press release, the incident occurred shortly before 7 p.m. in Detes' Cocktail Lounge, 303 Grand Avenue.

Police said Walters and Grubbs were seated in the bar engaged in acconversation. Apparently the conversation became objectionable to Walters, who police learned stood up and presumably struck Grubbs in the face with his fist.

According to the police, the bartender, whom they didn't identify, attempted to prevent a fight. At this point, police said, Grubbs was reported to have pulled a small caliber short-barreled revolver from his pocket and fired one shot.

Police said Walters left the establishment, and once outside discovered that he had been shot in the right arm just above the elbow.

Meanwhile, the bartender talked Grubbs into handing over the weapon, sit down and await the arrival of the police.

When police arrived Grubbs was taken to the station and booked on the charges, which included assault with intent to commit murder.

lege classes during the day, as long as the employe was fulfilling his duties.

This blowout occurred first during the past budget sessions when Ahern brought out a supposedly unknown fact that Supt. of Parks and Recreation Bob Maxey was teaching a class, and had in the past attended classes at San Francisco State during "normal working hours."

The issue was compounded during a joint council-department head meeting. At that time, McKenzie told Ahern that "if you are dissatisfied with the way I am performing my job all you have to do is ask for a personnel session."

Also getting involved in this foray was Councilman Borba. And Borba and McKenzie had a few short words last night, too.

It had to do with an item concerning lack of a proper engineering study for a breakwater at the marina.

Borba was persistent in his contention that a horse-back approximation of $30,000 to $40,000 estimate was final. McKenzie attempted to explain that the city doesn't know what the cost will be until a legitimate engineering study has been taken.

Upon Borba's insistence that he was correct, and with Ahern attempting to explain what Borba was saying, McKenzie said he realized Borba doesn't understand these situations because he is new on the council.

To this Borba hotly retorted, "Don't count me short. I got a good memory."

Whether this was the proverbial straw that broke the camel's back is conjecture.

It is a known fact, however, there was an ever-widening split between the council majority and McKenzie, apparently an occupational hazard for city managers.

would ask the board to "buy up my contract" inasmuch as it would be "difficult to work" under the present conditions.

"No! . . . No!" said a few in the audience when Da Prato suggested he "fade away quietly."

Dr. Nielsen, noting himself merely to be an employe of the board, registered a polite "no comment" following Da Prato's declarations.

A citizen, Jerry Higgins of 701 Hillside, reminded others present that an election was coming in April. He urged a regrouping of the "balance of power" on the present board.

He decried what he called a "Nazi-style" administration that is "getting bigger," and in further criticizing Dr. Nielsen, Higgins suggested the district "needs someone concerned with the kids."

Dr. Nielsen today reiterated his belief that "board policy was breached," that having just in August called the policy to Da Prato's attention, "I had no choice but to take the action I did."

However, he was firm in explaining that "no charges were ever made as far as I'm concerned."

What he meant, he added, is that he wanted the matter strictly for executive session material before trustees.

"I haven't discussed this with anyone," Dr. Nielsen pointed out.

He said:

"When Da Prato decided to send his report to the two board members, to the exclusion of the other three, and without the knowledge of the superintendent, he was in breach of the policy."

The superintendent also disclosed, "The majority of the board concurred that he did break the policy and asked that the matter be handled administratively."

Dr. Nielsen did not reveal what type of action would be taken.

"don't count me short. I got a good memory."

Mayor Patrick Ahern finally calmed Borba. Later in the evening the two, plus Councilman Frank Bertucelli carried the majority vote to fire McKenzie.

As to the breakwater, it was pointed out by Harbor Master Merwin (Swede) Hansen that the project was extended another 100 feet from the original 320 proposed.

He said also that the $30,000 estimate was based on the possibility of doing the project in conjunction with another project. The use of used piling would have reduced the cost.

It was back in June when Hansen first suggested the breakwater construction. He cited the need because of northeast winds. And the figure quoted was $30,000.

According to Hansen, the winds presently "cause a tremendous amount of damage."

The breakwater is to be put in at a 45 degree angle and the work will take approximately 10 working days.

San Bruno Insurance Cost Increases, Councilmen Told

Increased insurance costs of approximately $20,000 for the 1970-71 fiscal year has been brought to the attention of San Bruno councilmen.

A full report on why the increase came about was ordered although both City Manager Christopher (Kit) Menkin and City Clerk Carl Hultberg explained the main reason is an increase in insurance rates.

The matter appeared on last Monday's agenda as a request for transfer of funds from the general fund.

According to Menkin the city received a bill stating the amount, which was approximately $20,000 greater than had been budgeted.

Hultberg said, "We budgeted wrong. There is some additional coverage included, but the biggest increase is definitely an increase of rates."

Councilman George Corey said he didn't want the bill paid until the city had received a detailed statement of what made up the increase.

Hultberg noted the councilmen already had approved payment of the bill, but said he would hold onto the bill until further information has been obtained.

Menkin said there would be a 15 per cent penalty if the bill were not paid by October 1.

In another insurance matter, councilmen put aside a San Bruno Insurance Agents Association suggestion the city obtain "umbrella insurance" until they've had an opportunity to study a League of California Cities study on this type of insurance.

NAACP Bids For Merchant Aid In D. C.

The Daly City branch of the NAACP has sent out letters to merchants in the area soliciting their membership in that nationwide organization.

According to the letter, merchants should join in this "bold plan" in an effort to "create and maintain an atmosphere in our city that will permit each citizen, regardless of his background, to fully enjoy all of the resources of this city."

The originators of the local letter, Mrs. Madge Bradstreet (president); Ralph Galloway (vice president); Ivy DeWitt (secretary), and Myrtle DePlush, noted their organization was the strongest such group and could provide a bulwark against outside agitators who would lead today's youth into "senseless acts of destruction."

The emphasized "senseless" and went on to point out "there are times when confrontations are necessary when all else fails."

Some merchants interpreted the latter to be an "or else" warning to join the NAACP.

The letter closed by informing its recipients it was the goal of the group to enlist the entire business community, either by securing memberships or by pledging cash donations anonymously.

San Bruno Land Use Plan Is Referred To Planners

San Bruno's land use plan has been referred back to the city's planning commissioners for a report and possible retention of three areas in their present zoning.

The land use plan is actually a proposed projection of future use and not a rezoning document.

However, Councilman George Corey in making a motion to adopt the plan stipulated that three areas not even be considered for future possible new zoning.

These areas are in Portola Highlands and on the corner of Fleetwood Drive, which Corey wants to remain residential in nature, and in Pacific Heights, near the shopping center, which Corey wants to remain zoned commercial.

Councilmen assured questioning residents that the fact different zonings are projected for the future, it still would require the necessary public hearings before any zonings could be changed.

Councilman Dick Griffith, who voted against the plan, said that although he realizes it is nothing but a proposed future use of land, "It does become a foot in the door for easier zoning to come about."

According to the verbiage of the document, the plan "will set enough land for the optimum development of each land use."

Woman Lost $2,300 In 'Pigeon Drop'

An 88-year-old Daly City woman learned about the old "pigeon drop" racket the hard way yesterday afternoon — she lost $2300 of her hard-earned money.

Police said Elizabeth Marx, of Irvington Avenue, was approached by two well dressed women about 1 p.m. on Wellington Avenue and told they had found a bundle of money and asked what should they do.

Before their victim could answer, one of the women decided to call a friend who, she said, was a banker.

Rewards could be expected on the amount the woman put up.

Mrs. Marx was escorted to her bank and withdrew the funds and was asked to safeguard the package containing the money.

Later, when she looked inside the package it was empty.

Police said there was some similarity in the methods used by yesterday's two pigeon drop experts and those operating in the Daly City area several months ago.

Both women were neatly dressed.

One was described by the victim as about 26 years old, 5-ft., 4-in. tall, weighing 130 pounds with short hair. Her accomplice is 30 years old, with long brown hair, 5-ft., 2-in. in height and weighing 100 pounds.

DON'T HOLD YOUR BREATH

HONOLULU (UPI) — Honolulu is planning a $500 million rapid transit system which probably won't be under construction until 1972 and will take a decade or more to complete.

Insurance Coverage Is Studied

Interest in a different medical coverage by San Bruno city employes has prompted councilmen to order an in-depth study of the possibility of incorporating employe medical coverage plans.

Police Officer Tom Stewart said he had surveyed fellow officers on their desire to use Kaiser Foundation protection. Employes are now under complete coverage of Metropolitan Insurance Company.

Stewart said his research showed that the employes (and city) could pay less with similar coverage under the Kaiser plan, and have better dependent coverage, too.

According to the young officer, interest grew to include not only police but fire and public works employes.

The big question to be answered as far as councilmen are concerned is whether incorporation of the Kaiser program would conflict with the present setup.

They felt that if all employes didn't want Kaiser coverage, possibly split coverage by two insurance and medical associations would ultimately mean more costs for the city.

Fire Tanker Rolls Backward On Hill

Damage in the thousands of dollars was done Wednesday when a Pacifica fire truck lost its brakes at the scene of a grass fire and rolled backward down a steep slope.

The heavy tanker, loaded with 1,000 gallons of water, crashed into two parked cars and the front of the Cabrillo Medical Center at 659 Crespi Drive.

Highway Patrolman Milton Stark said damage to truck, cars and building was extensive.

Fire Capt. John Murphy, man in charge of the Linda Mar fire station, was injured when he jumped in the runaway truck in a futile effort to stop it. He banged his head when the tanker smacked into the medical building.

No one inside the medical center was injured, although it was a close call. It was reported that the part of the structure where the most damage was done had been occupied shortly before the crash.

The fire truck was put out of commission. Murphy said the department obtained the loan of the county civil defense fire truck to replace the damaged vehicle while it is being repaired.

Stark said the tanker had been parked at the intersection of Ladera Way and Crespi Drive with brakes set and a block under one wheel. The hose carrying hydraulic fluid to the right front brake cylinder ruptured, the officer reported, allowing the wheel to slide over the block. The weight of the truck released the emergency brake, Stark said.

When Murphy saw the vehicle start to roll down the hill, he jumped in the passenger side and tried in vain to stop it. He was still trying to make the brakes hold when the truck hit the cars and the building.

The autos were owned by Mercedes Johnson, 216 Seaside Drive, and Donald R. Blaine, 1053 Fassler Drive, both Pacifica.

$9,900 Bid

A low bid of $9,900 was good for a San Bruno sidewalk replacement contract, awarded to Ferrando and Company by city councilmen.

Landscape Sketches Shown

Landscape sketches, provided by the State Division of Highways and showing planned tree and shrub restorations on Interstate 380 between El Camino and Cherry Avenue in San Bruno, are on display at the city library.

Also on display is a San Bruno map, marked in green to show the local "Tree Times Five" volunteer tree planting target areas.

Mrs. Dick Griffith, head of the planting drive, urges all residents to inspect the highway plans and offer suggestions for a "greener, more scenic tomorrow."

Mrs. Griffith said she has met recently with members of the Crestmoor Sierra Club and three planting ideas were exchanged and offers of help given.

Also consulted, according to Mrs. Griffith, was San Bruno Park Superintendent Roy Davis, "who has performed wonders with planting."

Mrs. Griffith reiterated that those interested in volunteering their service in thre planting contact her by postcard at 135 Madison Ave.

Salary Range For Clerk

A classification of steno-clerk has been reactivated by San Bruno city councilmen at the request of the city's personnel board. The position has a salary range of $536 to $652.

The position was reactivated in order to hire a person who could double as secretary to the superintendent of the recreation department. A receptionist clerk has resigned from that department.

Bruno Fights Loss Of Help

An "exit form" to serve as a guideline in the prevention of losing experienced help has been approved by San Bruno councilmen.

The form, prepared by the city's personnel board, offers those leaving the city employ a chance to expound on the reasons they are leaving.

This, hopefully feel city officials, will result in an eventual saving of time and money in training new personnel by anticipating (reasons) employes desire to leave and take steps to counteract this desire.

TEACHERS

There are 647,353 male teachers and 1,350,517 women teachers in the nation's public schools.

San Bruno Apt. Plans

San Bruno councilmen have given approval to a revised plan to construct 1,296 apartment units on 41 acres bounded by Junipero Serra on the east, San Bruno Avenue on the north and Whitman Way on the south.

Known as Shelter Creek, the development will consist of studio, one and two-bedroom apartments. Louis Douglas of Los Angeles is the developer.

According to Douglas, who had an earlier approval for the same number of units with a different planned layout, the basic change is to eliminate an earlier proposed six-acre commercial area.

He said also that parking has been changed from beneath buildings to the area's periphery. The project also will contain four swimming pools (one indoors), more open areas, tennis courts, a stream running through the area and "instant" landscaping.

Construction is anticipated to take from one-and-a-half to two years. Douglas said the studios probably would rent for $170 a month, the one-bedrooms for $220 a month and the two-bedrooms for $265 a month. He said there would be a "no-child" policy.

Theft Of Color Television Told

Douglas Bell reported the loss of some $350 in cash and a portable color television set from his apartment at 699 Sylvan Street, Daly City. Entry was made by forcing open the front door to the apartment, police said.

Jr. College Dollar Crisis Follows Vote

San Mateo Junior College District faces a financial crisis today following defeat at the polls Wednesday of tax and bond measures.

Chancellor Clifford O. Erickson said the disapproval means that progress at the college's three campuses will have to be curtailed and students will be turned away.

The second measure, a $2.7-million bond issue for classroom construction at all three campuses took an even worse beating because it required a two-thirds vote while the tax proposal needed only a simple majority. Only 29,348 votes were cast in favor of the bonds, compared with 33,348 against.

It was the third consecutive defeat for a bond issue in the junior college district, $3.1-million proposals having failed in March and November of 1968.

There was no official word today whether district officials will submit the issue to the electorate a fourth time.

Business Manager Matteo V. Fasanaro, who commented that he personally favors resubmission of the bond and tax proposals as soon as practicable, said the earliest possible date would be in late December.

Defeat of the tax rate increase means that next June 30 the district will revert to a 35-cent tax rate that was first put into effect in 1937.

Objectives Of Jeff Intern Use Program Being Probed

Dr. Rudie Tretten, director of Jefferson High School's Teacher Leadership Project, is probing specific objectives that surround his federally funded research program involving the training of teachers in the effective use of aides and interns in the classroom.

Tretten, a former Jefferson administrator selected last spring to head the pilot program that he had been instrumental in obtaining, explained the district received $105,000 from the U.S. Government to "investigate the feasibility of instituting a Career Opportunities Program within the district."

Project participants — six teachers and six interns from San Francisco State College — and federal guidelines have spelled out the specific objectives around which the program is evolving in the second week of school in Daly City.

They are:

—To begin to define and describe some differentiated staff roles within the school.

—To investigate the educational soundness of differentiated staff roles within the classroom.

—To promote the implementation of these roles if they seem to have a positive educational impact.

A group of aides from Skyline College is assisting the 12 regulars in the program, Tretten said.

"Teaching teams will be developed, with people assuming classroom roles commensurate with their training," Dr. Tretten said.

Teachers and interns assigned to the project are (teacher listed first) Don Behm and Russ Nichols, English; Margaret Cormier and Maureen McCready, TESOL-Spanish; Jim Force, counseling; Nick Lafkas and Mary Lautner, English; Al Sinor and Lynes Katayama, science and mathematics; Dave Smith and Frank Nishimura, social science.

Julie Jansen is researcher-instructor, while Ray Simpson is the college coordinator-instructor.

"Because teaching has traditionally been an avenue of upward mobility within the United States and because of the increasing need of the schools for teachers from minority groups," Dr. Tretten said, "the federal government has embarked on several programs designed to encourage members from minority groups to enter education as a career."

He added, however, that the appeal is not only to ethnic minorities, "but also to the poor whites who are themselves a minority group."

Tretten said he believes the Teacher Leadership Development phase of the Education Professions Development Act, which has never been fully implemented, "should have preceded Career Opportunities Program projects in all districts interested in the use of paraprofessionals."

Youth Advisory Panel Discussion

Harry W. Gluckman, president of the B'nai Brith Youth Advisory Board for Northern California, will address the Skyline Chapter B'nai B'rith Women on Wednesday at the Homestead Savings and Loan Association Building, 130 West Portal Avenue in San Francisco.

Also on the program, which will begin at 8:15 p.m. will be a panel discussion, moderated by Gluckman, which will have as participants the Youth leadership of the B'nai B'rith Youth Organization for Northern California.

The top of Gluckman's talk will be "Constructive Communications with our Youth."

Tiny Tots Signup Set

Registration for the South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department's Tiny Tot Program will be held September 16 and 17 from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. in the Recreation Building at Orange Memorial Park. A fee is payable at the time of registration, and pre-registration is mandatory for enrollment in the activity.

The Tiny Tot Program is a recreation program geared to the abilities and needs of the three and one half to five year old child. Included in the activities are crafts, singing, dance exercises, story time, "Show and Tell," nature walks and special party days.

Menkin's Crime Report Lauded

San Bruno Councilman Dick Griffith today praised City Manager Christopher (Kit) Menkin for "rapid action" on the subject of crime prevention within the city.

Griffith has been critical of the fact a permanent crime prevention commission has not been established in the city. He blames this fact partially on Councilman George Corey for not following through on a commission report initiated by Corey in 1968.

He also blames former city manager Gerard Vergeer, who he said had been instructed to draw up an ordinance for a permanent commission and failed to do so.

"I asked Mr. Menkin on September 7 for a report on the status of the 42 recommendations of the city's crime prevention commission appointed July 8, 1968, and he provided an eight-page analysis within ten days," said Griffith.

The critical councilman said Menkin's report shows that 20 of the crime prevention committee's recommendations have been implemented, wholly or in part, and that Menkin had administratively adopted three additional ones. He said action on much of the remainder depends upon the establishment of a permanent crime prevention commission.

Griffith also noted that crime in San Bruno during 1969 increased 22 per cent.

According to Griffith some of the items not implemented include a police recruiting and training program study, evaluation of police duties, a three-year projection of community police needs, prisoner security study, a teen-age council and teen center potential, and a drug study.

He added that Menkin is being opposed by both Councilmen Corey and Maurice Hamilton in Menkin's recent administrative adoption of a crime prevention commission report recommendation that the police chief, or his representative, become an ex-officio member of the personnel board when consideration is being given to police job applicants. (This action by Menkin is one reason Hamilton called for an executive session to "spell out" Menkin's duties).

Menkin had also provided for police ex-officio representation on the planning and recreation commissions, as suggested by the crime prevention commission report, according to Griffith.

"It does seem that these councilmen (Corey and Hamilton) are opposing just for the sake of opposing, without regard for the good of the city'" said Griffith.

"I hope Mr. Corey in particular will soon join us on constructive action, instead of indulging himself in nit-picking. After all," noted Griffith, "The crime prevention proposal was his in the first place."

Griffith earlier had chided "my four lawyers on the council" for being "devoid of sound business practice knowledge" in calling a personnel session with Menkin and the city attorney to define the limits of administrative authority.

"All Mr. Menkin has done that (primarily) Hamilton and Corey are questioning is delegate some authority to department heads and direct that departments heads be consulted in hirings for their departments," said Griffith.

"Mr. Menkin's moves to substitute sound private enterprise municipal practices for political purse string boondoggling should be applauded by all — and certainly no personnel session should have been called."

Griffith also attacked Corey on his proposal at last week's council meeting to recall himself as showing "the depths of desperation to which he (Corey) has descended in his temper tantrums at being outvoted on a non-legislative issue."

He called Corey's action "another grandstand witchhunt maneuver to divert the public attention from his own lack of performance for the people.

"It seems that everything Mr. Corey wants to do to reverse a majority decision, at which he is simply being a sore loser, would turn out to cost the public a lot of money. He has been trying to shift the financial burden on his own pettishness on the public," said Griffith.

Crestmoor P-TA To Study Scheduling

Innovations in school scheduling will be the subject of the September 30 meeting of Crestmoor High School's P-TA to be held in the school's Little Theater at 8 p.m.

An explanation of the scheduling changes now under study will be presented by Stewart Dimon, who is assistant principal, education services, for the school. Parents will be asked for their opinions and time will be alloted for questions.

Some schools have instituted weekly rather than daily scheduling, two or three times a week scheduling such as in college, and similar changes, all without altering the total time in any one subject.

Youth, 17, Arrested In Burglaries

A 17-year-old youth arrested only last week and charged with burglarizing the Daly City Datsun Company was again arrested Sunday morning as he allegedly left the scene of a burglary with two 13-year-old companions.

An anonymous caller tipped police that three boys were seen breaking into the offices of the New San Francisco Motel at 6925 Mission Street.

Officers Jim Barron and Tom Martin arrived on the scene as the three young suspects were allegedly leaving the motel offices about midnight. The manager reported some $37 stolen from a cash drawer.

Police said the trio was still carrying some of the loot taken from a drug store earlier.

About 7 p.m. the Daly City Drug store at 6331 Mission street was broken into by cutting the protective bars off a rear office window.

Some $70 in cash and $195 in wristwatches were stolen, but no drugs were taken, according to police.

Adult Classes Down To 53

South San Francisco Adult Education reached its peak enrollment last year with 3,800 students and 106 teachers, according to Principal Alvarc Bettucchi.

This year, owing to the interdistrict agreement outsiders must have, Adult Education classes have been reduced to 53 courses and 67 teachers, he reported.

Bettuchi, who has served as principal of Adult Education since 1966, is a native of South San Francisco.

Adult Ed classes began in South San Francisco April 27, 1934 with Charles Timpany as director. Classes at Spruce School were for 50 students enrolled in Americanization and English as a second language.

Favorite Adult Ed classes, according to Bettucchi, include physical education, swimming, child-parent observation, sewing and ceramics.

7 Cities Accept Dump Plan

County Manager M. D. Tarshes said Thursday only seven of the county's 18 cities have pledged "positive" acceptance of the offer of the Board of Supervisors to coordinate a county-wide garbage and refuse disposal program.

He identified them as Daly City, Pacifica, Portola Valley, San Carlos, Belmont, Redwood City and Woodside.

Because of the lack of support from the other cities, the supervisors Tuesday voted to withdraw the offer and inform all city officials that they would be on their own.

The action means that the cities will have to make their own arrangements for use of the two major dump sites that are expected to handle most of the county's garbage and refuse for the remaining three decades of this century—the Marsh Road dump in Menlo Park and the Ox Mountain site near Half Moon Bay.

The agencies the cities will be dealing with are the City of Menlo Park and the privately owned San Mateo County Scavenger Company. Menlo Park has issued a permit to the Scavenger Company for operation of the Marsh Road site. And the company holds a use permit issued by the county for operation of a fill and cover dump at Ox Mountain.

The offer of the Board of Supervisors to coordinate a county-wide program was made after Menlo Park officials decided that they would oversee the operation of the Marsh Road dump themselves, rather than turn that responsibility over to the county. Supervisors said they made the offer in the interest of helping all other cities in the county with their disposal problems. The plan was that, if a majority of the cities agreed, the county would be in a position to guarantee a certain level of usage of the Menlo Park site for a period of years, after which Ox Mountain would become the major and central disposal site of the county.

A uniform disposal fee would have been part of the plan.

In voting to withdraw the offer, the supervisors left room for reconsideration on the part of the cities that did not accept the idea.

"We're not shutting the door on this," Supervisor Robert St. Clair said. "If the cities wish the county to help, we will be more than glad to do so."

went broke last year and "we don't want to be number 40."

Mrs. Betty Higgins, a resident of the communtiy, asked if there were some way to keep the full reading program for at least the current year.

Costs of maintaining the program were outlined.

"Like so many things," "Dr. Nielsen said, "they aren't very palatable. But, it won't be easy to run on a reserve of $17,000."

Mrs. Higgins chided the cutting of "classroom situations," and Board Chairman Leo Padreddii concurred, however placed the blame on the State Legislature.

Trustee James Christensen told Mrs. Higgins the cuts next year will be worse than presently.

She reiterated it was the classroom situation again being involved, and suggested cuts in other areas.

She mentioned items such as mileage, and an unfilled curriculum consultant's position.

Big Right-Of-Way Mystery

right of way — with no indication of what its for.

City engineer David Macabee the matter and Harrison agreed.

Monday revealed a series of drawings and specifications on what type of stairway could be built on the right-of-way and how much it will cost.

It will be a three landing wooden stairway and estimated costs would be $3,000.

Harrison said of the 750 homes in the area, 475 would be directly affected by the stairwa and would make use of it.

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett asked for more time to look into

The mayor said he felt the developer of the hillside community in the northwestern section of the city was "morally obligated" to participate in the building of the stairs and said the fact that residents had to trudge up and down the hill via a lengthy route was "an unnecessary inconvenience."

council) was not knowledgeable of proper proceedings.

"I don't see you wearing any medals," blurted Borba to Mammini.

"Medals for what?" asked Mammini.

Borba inferred Mammini should be wearing medals for being so smart.

"I'm not going to waste my breath on you," replied Mammini.

The hassle stopped at this point, but was an indication of the mood of the evening that eventually saw City Manager Tom McKenzie (who Mammini supported and Borga didn't) fired.—B.P.

Deaths

Seaman Dies In Car Crash

A seaman died late on Sept. 15 when he was pinned beneath his car after it plunged over an embankment and onto a Pacifica beach.

Pacifica authorities said the victim was Vito Sraumeni, 44, of 125 Hilton, Pacifica, who was driving alone on Beach Boulevard at the time of the accident, about 11:15 p.m.

Sraumeni's 1961 Ford Thunderbird was discovered on its left side on the sandy beach area just west of Beach Boulevard. Sraumeni lay beneath it.

A police spokesman said there were skid marks on the old, bump road, indicating the seaman had attempted to stop after somehow losing control of the vehicle on a straight thoroughfare that fronts the Pacific Ocean.

The car left the roadway to the beach some 15 feet below the level of Beach Boulevard, police said.

SSF Voters In Rejection Of Overpass

South San Francisco, voters turned out to cast a resounding 2-to-1 defeat of a proposed pedestrian overpass at Camaritas and West Orange avenues.

Although defeating construction of an overpass on the extension of Westborough Boulevard now being built, the issue had a much deeper connotation in South San Francisco.

It was, in effect, concerned citizens telling three councilmen — Mayor Patrick Ahern and Councilmen Frank Bertucelli and William Borba — that it the city is to spend upwards of $100,000 the people should have an opportunity to voice their opinions.

The unofficial tally was 4,045 against it and 2,085 voting in the affirmative.

Controversy on the overpass has existed for several years, as far back as the time it first was decided to extend Westborough Boulevard.

The group of residents seeking the overpass claimed they had been promised by Mayor Ahern and Councilman Bertucelli that an overpass would be built regardless. That was some three years ago.

Since that time studies were made, both by city staff and outside firms. General consensus seemed to be that an overpass was not needed at that site, at least it would be better to wait out the construction to see where a overpass would serve best.

Shortly before municipal elections this year councilmen — this is when Andrew Rocca was still on the council — ordered a study, and when told the overpass was unnecessary gave residents the benefit of the doubt by voting to study the matter again four months after construction of the roadway was completed.

However, the entire picture changed when Rocca retired and Borba was elected to the council. The majority vote shifted from Rocca and Councilmen Warren Steinkamp and Frank Mammini to Borba, Ahern and Bertucelli over Steinkamp and Mammini.

On a motion by Borba, the new majority took a new vote on the overpass matter and approved the overpass.

This was done, without public discussion, notification to the press, or letting Councilmen Mammini and Steinkamp know the matter was coming up. It was not an agenda item at the meeting but it was voted in.

As a result of this action, residents, headed by Attorney David Friedenberg, of 2395 Bourbon Court, began a referendum petition to put the matter on the ballot.

Needed were approximately 1,700 signatures, or 10 per cent of the registered voters. Collected were well over 2,200.

Officer Is Alert, FBI Gets Man

Police said a county-wide broadcast was received at about 3 a.m. concerning Cole.

Girl Tells Police She Was Attacked

A La Honda girl reported over the weekend that she had been kidnaped and raped somewhere in the North County after a dance at the College of San Mateo.

According to San Mateo police, the girl was abducted shortly after 11 p.m. Friday in the parking lot at CSM by four young men.

One of the young men pulled her into their automobile and they then headed into Belmont where they bought several cans of beer. As they drank their beer, the driver of the car headed north on El Camino Real, police said.

Finally, after driving for about a half-hour, the four suspects proceeded to pull off to the side of a road and rape the victim several times.

After they had committed the acts, two of the suspects were let out of the car and they allegedly hitchhiked from the scene.

The other two young men drove for a short time and then got out of the car and let the young victim drive off.

She said she drove for a while until she found the Bayshore Freeway. She drove south on the freeway, she said.

She stopped the auto in South San Francisco, however, because she thought she was beginning to hemorrhage, police reported.

It was at that point that the police were called.

NELL NORTON

Sugar 'n Spice

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

Recently I was served a slice of delicious cake. It was a beauty to behold and a delight to taste. Having tasted it, I immediately sought the recipe. Mrs. Norma Griffith of San Bruno sent the recipe. Though she had baked the cake I had tasted, she disclaims credit for the recipe, writing that it was given to her by Mrs. Viola Girdish who also lives down San Bruno way.

This cake is so good that there is plenty of praise to be given to both these ladies.

MARSALA WINE CAKE

1 package yellow cake mix
1 package vanilla pudding
4 eggs
three-fourths cup oil
three-fourths cup Marsala wine
½ cup plum or berry syrup (optional)

(Bake in 350-degree oven 40 minutes).

In a large mixing bowl combine the package yellow cake mix with the package of vanilla pudding. Add the four eggs, three-fourths cup each oil and wine and the fruit syrup. Beat 5 minutes.

Pour into well greased tube pan and bake in 350-degree oven for about 40 minutes.

Cool and sprinkle with sifted powdered sugar.

NOTE: If desired you may substitute a butterscotch flavor in place of the vanilla.

THIS NEXT RECIPE is for an entree that is easy to make (it simmers quietly while you go about other things) uses round steak, some flavorful extras and sour cream, and is just delicious. It makes a very generous dish, serving eight.

SPANISH STEAK WITH SOUR CREAM SAUCE

3 pounds round steak, cut three-fourths inch thick
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon pepper
4 cup regular all-purpose flour
2 Tablespoons butter
1 can (1 lb.) tomatoes
½ cup chopped green pepper
1-3 cup chopped onion
1 Tablesoon regular all-purpose flour
1 cup dairy sour cream at room temperature

Cut the three pounds round steak into serving pieces; sprinkle with the two teaspoons salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Coat the meat with flour and score with a sharp knife. Coat again with flour.

In skillet melt the two tablespoons butter; brown the meat slowly on all sides.

Combine the pound can tomatoes with the half cup chopped green pepper and third cup chopped onion; pour over meat.

Cover and simmer over low heat 2-2 hours until meat is fork-tender. Transfer meat to warm platter. Into liquid in skillet blend the one tablespoon flour; cook stirring constantly, until thickened (about 5 minutes.)

Remove from heat and stir in the cup sour cream. Serve immediately over Spanish Steak.

FINDING A DIFFERENT WAY to serve a vegetable is always a pleasure for me. For I have found that you good cooks are always looking for just that type of recipe.

CARROT RING WITH ONIONS AND PEAS

4 cups mashed cooked carrots (about 3 pounds)
2 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup light cream
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
dash ground cloves
2 packages frozen onions and peas

(Bake 350-degree oven one hour).

Cook the three pounds of carrots in salted water until tender. Mash. Combine the carrots, two well beaten eggs, one teaspoon salt, fourth cup light cream, fourth teaspoon nutmeg and dash cloves. Generously butter a 5 cup ring mold. Spoon the carrot mixture into mold and pack down well.

Bake in 350-degree oven about one hour or until set.

Cook the peas and onions as directed on package, drain and add butter, salt and pepper to taste.

Unmold carrot ring on large heated plate, fill center with peas and onions. Serves eight.

TO FINISH OFF THE COLUMN this week I'll add a recipe for cookies made with a pudding mix. Very good and very easy to make.

BUTTERSCOTCH OATMEAL COOKIES

½ cup margarine
1 cup flour
1 pkg. butterscotch pudding mix
1 egg, beaten
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon cream of tarter
½ teaspoon soda
cup sugar
1 cup oatmeal
¼ cup chopped nuts

(Bake 350-degree oven—12 to 15 minutes).

Cream the half cup margarine, blend in the pudding mix. Add the one egg. Sift together the cup flour, half teaspoon each cream of tarter and soda and fourth cup sugar. Add to creamed mixture and mix well. Add the one cup oatmeal and fourth cup chopped nuts. Roll into small balls and place on ungreased cookie sheet. Flatten with a moistened fork.

Bake in 350-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 3 dozen.

The next meeting will be October 7, at the home of Mrs. Glory Leonard, with Mary Chenevey as hostess.

ROSE TOPIC

Pacifica Gallery Features Four Aritsts

A group show is featured this month at Periwinkle Art Gallery, Pacifica.

Two of the four artists are Pacifica residents.

Watercolorist Zella Buckingham attended the Massachusetts School of Art in Boston. She remained there to teach art for 15 years. Although she is an experienced oil painter, Miss Buckingham prefers to work with the watercolor medium.

As an "on location" painter, her paintings depict local coastside farms, rolling hills and familiar beaches. Miss Buckingham is a member of the Pacifica Art Guild.

Ruth Stege, a Pacifica resident, is a native of Tulsa, Okla. Working with lacquer, acrylic and aluminum paint, Miss Stege obtains varied textures and dancing colors in her non-objective paintings.

Using her one-room apartment as studio, Ruth is presently working on two 30-inch by 144-inch cancasses.

Printmaker Peggy Christgau is a graduate of San Francisco State. After teaching elementary school for several years, Mrs. Christgau taught art for four years in Junior High School. Peggy spent the past year with her husband and son in Spain and Germany. Peggy's serigraphs are contemporary in design and color, sometimes hinting at her tongue in cheek humor.

Serop Vardanian was born in Isfahan, Iran. He grew up learning the principles of Dutch art. Vardanian lived in Europe after World War II and studied primarily in Holland. Vardanian utilizes many media, oil, acrylic and watercolor.

Area Artists Show Works

Twelve members of the Art Guild of Pacifica will be exhibiting their paintings and sculpture at the upcoming 24th annual San Francisco Art Festival to be held in Civic Center Plaza September 24 - 27.

Exhibiting will be Sydney Clark, Janet Cochrane, Betty Dufur, J. P. Gottschlag; Robert L. Hulsebus; Martha Lewinsky; Hermann Leger; Kurt and Diane Poehlman; Shirley Scolini and Gary and Pat Wommack. These artists are from Daly City, Pacifica and San Bruno.

The Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department, will sponsor a J-Teen Membership Day on Saturday, from 1 to 3 p.m. at Oddstad Park.

Membership fee is $1.50 and will include free admission to the first dance. Each new member is required to take a small 1 by 1 picture of themselves.

The Pacifica J-Teeners will open the Fall J-Teen program, with a Drop-In at Oddstad Park on September 28, from 7 to 9 p.m. Admission to the Drop-In will be 25 cents for members and $1.50 for new members. Highlights of the Drop-In will include pool, bumper pool, ping-pong, shuffle board, checkers, chess, carroms and records.

The Teen Program will start with a September 30 Teen Co-Rec at Oceana; October 1, Teen Co-Rec at Terra Nova; October 3, a rock dance to the sounds of the "Ark" at Terra Nova Cafeteria. Town Membership Cards, will be available, at all the above activities, during the first week for $1.50.

Pickus will speak at 8 p.m., September 29. The general subject area is "Religion and Peace ... What a mess and how to set it right."

A theme of "Awareness-Action—We Cannot Survive unless self-concern is wedded to other concern" surrounds the series, which will feature a candidates' night on October 6, a discussion on drugs on October 20, San Mateo County Housing Problems, "Racism in the Seventies," and the Migrant Worker.

ROBERT PICKUS

Handicraft Items At Serramonte

In an effort to raise funds and to publicize their luncheon-fashion show, the Parents' Group fo the Nursery School at the Children's Health Home in San Mateo are selling handcrafted items at the Serramonte Shopping Center Festival.

The luncheon-fashion show will be held at the San Mateo Elks Club on November 14.

TERRA NOVA TOPICS

Doors flung open, 1650 healthy pairs of lungs greeted each other, newly waxed floors were trampled, and the Terra Nova student body, (disguised with summer tans and brand-new clothes) returned en masse to bid suntan lotion and surfboards goodbye as another year of cultural advancement engulfed them.

A sufficient number of eager, bewildered freshmen (about 450 in all) crowded the halls, jammed their lockers, and bought milkshakes. The counselors quietly gulped down aspirins and got ready for the inevitable deluge f program changes.

Star attractions this year were the Big Roman))))ce on Campus couple, Mr. and Mrs. Whalen (I've proof that, yes, Social Science teachers do fall in love with librarians), and Civic teacher Terry Norton's bushy red beard.

Adding to the excitement was the Monday arrival of AFS exchange student Roger Muller of Australia. Roger will be attending classes at both Oceana and Terra Nova. He will spend his mornings and Tuesdays at Oceana, then commute to TN, where he is scheduled to take Typing and Drama.

This daily switch between modular and semester classes is due to the recent shifting of TN-Oceana boundaires, and is expceted to cause some social and instructional conflicts. But Roger is enthusiastic about the situation and is eager to get a sampling of both high schools. Rober is staying at the home of The Rudie Tretten family in Vallemar.

Class office petitions have begun making the rounds, clubs have started holding meetings, and the Spirit Staff has started pushing ASB cards.

Tiger Tales, Terra Nova's quarterly news magazine, has announced this years editorial staff. They are: Rockie Montenegro, Editor-in-Chief; Larry Eolkin, managing editor.

Saratoga Locale For Wedding

Villa Montalvo in Saratoga was the setting Sunday morning at 11 o'clock for the wedding and reception of Lynda Susan Bowlin of Pacifica and Thomas Henry Drotleff of Belmont.

The Rev. E. L. Porter Sr. conducted the service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Bowlin and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Drotleff.

Lynda recited her vows in the natural garden setting in a long lavender satin Empire gown with sheer nylon sleeves gathered with trim in three places. She carried daisies, baby's breath, bachelor buttons and pale purple carnations and wore a circlet of daisies and baby's breath in her hair.

A yellow sleeveless street length gown trimmed with yellow daisies was worn by Bonnie Kehoe of Pacifica, the maid of honor. Similarly attired in gowns without daisy trimming were bridesmaids Jo Ann Fizer of Reno and Sue Ellen Drotleff of Los Altos, the benedict's sister.

Each of the girls carried bouquets of daisies and baby's breath.

Best man was Kevin Cloud of San Francisco and ushers were James Drotleff of Belmont, brother of the benedict, and Lawrence Rolapp of Encino.

Relatives at the reception included the benedict's grandmothers, Lilien Caldwell of Oxnard and Suzanna Drotleff of Belmont.

After greeting guests, the bride changed to a dark purple sleeveless Empire outfit trimmed with white lace for her Carmel honeymoon. She and Thomas will live in Sunnyvale upon their return.

The couple attended Foothill Junior College in Los Altos. The bride is the sister of Thomas Bowlin III of Sacramento and her husband is the brother of Barbara Graham of Hollister.

Paul Averiett (right), president of the Peninsula Peace Officers Association, instructs Patrolmen Ed Burton (left) and Richard Hillman, standing tall, "to get out there, hear" and sell tickets to the PPOA's 41st annual dance. September 26, at the San Mateo County Fairgrounds. A ticket, Averiett explained, "is one of the few costs unaffected by inflation, yet today more than ever before it provides more for the dollar its costs," since the event is a fund-raiser to benefit the families of men killed or injured in the line of duty.

A 'Do Something' Drug Plan

"Do Something" was the theme at a Pacifica Jaycees' drug forum, the first step in a long program by the Jaycees to work in the community to halt drug abuse among teenagers.

Captain Mel Nelson of the Pacifica Police Department spoke on drug abuse and answered questions in a two hour long session at the V.F.W. Hall on Paloma Avenue.

Jaycees and a number of guests talked of the problems of drugs on our younger members of society and what possible steps could be considered to "Do Something."

A number of proposals were discussed at length by the members present and Captain Nelson. The most probable approach, if approved by the Jaycees at their next general meeting, will be a community-wide public drug forum in Pacifica.

Tentaively, this will serve as a kick-off to gain city -wide attention to the problems associated with drugs. According to Jaycee President, Ken Addleman, the success of the program will depend primarily on two factors: the support that can be acquired from the business community including the school administration and other service organizations, and most important, the interest and involvement of parents.

The Jaycees recognize that drug abatement of any sort is a tough undertaking, nevertheless their enthusiasm is high and they are optimistic about the potential results.

The drug forum is a result of a national and state wide undertaking by Jaycees under a new concept called "Do Something."

"Do Something" is a new Jaycee philosophy of offering help to communities to solve key problems through the efforts of Jaycee Organizations. Vice President, Cal Mock stated "This drug forum is only the beginning of a number of community projects that will fall under the broad Jaycee concept of "Do Something."

According to the Pacifica Jaycees, they intend to devote their full attention and efforts to "Do Something" for Pacifica in the coming months and years.

Pre-School Registration Sept. 28

Registration for Pacifica's pre-school program, sponsored by the Park, Beach and Recreation Department will be conducted September 28 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the Sharp Park Library Community Room.

The Library is located at the corner of Hilton and Palmetto Roads in the Sharp Park area of Pacifica.

The Pre-School program is open to three and one-half to five-year-olds and will be held at Fairmont, Fairmont West Oddstad Recreation Centers. Both morning and afternoon classes will be scheduled at each facility.

The program consists of a one - day - per - week class of two hours in which the preschooler will have the opportunity to experience arts and crafts, games, interactive play, nature study, music and dance, and a variety of creative learning experiences. The program will also provide the children with the opportunity to play and work with other children their age.

Instructors Bonnie Kehoe and Margaret Johnson are planning the weekly activities, to include planting seeds, carving a pumpkin for Halloween, "Me" pictures, a special field trip and lots more activities.

In addition to the above registration, late registration will be taken at the Recreation Department office, 170 Santa Maria Avenue (starting at 1 p.m. Monday, Tuesday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m.; Wednesday, 6 to 9 p.m.; Friday, 9 to noon only.

Book Review Series At Library In D.C.

Mrs. Thomas A. Jovick, president of the Friends of the Daly City Library announced that the popular Book Review Series under the chairmanship of Mrs. F. Lincoln Walter will be resumed Thursday at 10 a.m. in the Coral Room of the Westlake Library, 275 Southgate Avenue.

This series, a service project of the Friends, is held every fourth Thursday of the month, unless otherwise specified, and is free to the public.

Samuel C. Chandler, city librarian, will review "The Queens and the Hive" by Edith Sitwell. This choice was made because it is one of the most requested books in the library due to the current lively interest in the Tudor Period of English history.

It is the story of three famous British Queens — Elizabeth I; Mary, Queen of Scots;, and, "Bloody Mary" whose influence reached far beyond their own country and times. Their impact is still felt in the modern world. Edith Sitwell, a writer in the highest literary tradition, may very well rank with George Elliot and the Bronte sisters.

Chandler came to Daly City about 12 years ago when there was only a library on Mission Street and a small branch in a store in Westlake.

'Elf Market' In Pacifica

The "Elf Market," a holiday version of the well-known Flea Market is being planned for the second year by Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department staff.

The Elf Market annually provides community organizations with the opportunity to sell handmade craft items made by members for the holiday sale.

Organizations planning to participate in the November 21 and 22 sale to be held at Cabrillo School should contact the Park, Beach and Recreation Department for further information and application forms.

The Elf Market was developed to provide organizations in the community with an opportunity to raise money for their community projects and to provide a market place for holiday gifts.

Last year's successful event found 14 organizations participating.

Post-Times Writer

FASTER THAN A SPEEDING BULLET — Before this column could get into print last week that junked car on the side of Skyline Boulevard was gone. City Attorney Al Polonsky bemoans the fact that we didn't get the facts before the paper hit the streets (wet lawns in some cases). Our sincere apologies, Mr. City Attorney.

POLONSKY ADDS that the city council has also taken action to clean up that mess on the corner of Eighty-seventh and Edgeworth avenues — which happens to be in Daly City, NOT Broadmoor as was published. Just one of them days, we guess.

GOOD NEWS FROM S.S.F. — According to a recent PG&E report there are 14,242 gas connections in that city. We know of five.

COMMUNICATIONS NETWORK — Skyline College has a new student switchboard project set up to let the students know what's doing in the community, and, more intriguing, letting the residents of the area know what the students are doing. Now, if only someone could tell us what we're doing? ? ?

MC CANN-ERICKSON, INC. is a big ad agency and so when they came out with a full page ad on setting up a model for revolution in the September 14 issue of "Advertising Age" the area's ultra-conservatives went into orbit. That is, they took off until they read the "Model for Revolution," which happens to be . . . the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

THAT WAS BILL SCHNEIDER that Daly City councilman McRobert Stewart introduced as "Norman Merkell" at the Governor Reagan luncheon the other noon at the War Memorial Building. Rather than embarrass the Good Councilman, Schneider stood and took a bow . . . Also it's true two other governors — Pat Brown and "Goody" Knight — visited Daly City, but Reagan was the first to lunch here.

REACTION DEPARTMENT — The question asked of D.C. employees recently was: What are your reactions to the rash of skyjackings? Do you think the Palestinians have legitimate grievances?

Bob Black in the Finance department over at City Hall had this to say: "My only reaction to skyjackings is that by the time I get enough money to fly, this problem will have been resolved . . ."

Meanwhile, over in the Fire Station, A fat Arab opined, "I think the skyjackers have been a little carried away with that slogan, 'Come Fly With Us.' The Jordanian desert might be a nice place to fly over, but I wouldn't want to land there."

WELCOME BACK — Mel Battye is back at his Personnel Board post after a lengthy illness . . . And postmaster Vince Murphy is home. Still resting up from that heart attack . . . Irma McDonald looking fit as a fiddle following complete recovery from her heart attack . . . Yours Truly suffering from autumn fever. The latter not to be confused with spring, summer and winter fever.

MORE ON COUPONS — A "Mrs. Rogers" dropped off a big envelope filled to the brim with those Betty Crocker coupons local police are collecting to buy a kidney machine. And a tip of the topper to you Mrs. Rogers . . . Another D.C. woman who asked to remain anonymous suggests a countywide movement to buy these machines with churches, clubs, and various other groups getting behind it. Great. If it can be done.

BACK AT THE REAGAN affair — That was bad taste shown by one Chamber of Commerce representative who posted another candidate's slogan in front of his nameplate. Kid stuff, we call it.

AT THE COW PALACE function for sports figures the other p.m., some wiseguys were tying Unruh signs between balloons and letting them drift around the room. Coupled with that noisy rock band the function almost bombed. Betcha Reagan doesn't attend it next year? And not because he won't still be in office.

THAT WAS A CLOSE one for Mark DeBernardi, the son of former Daly City councilman Micheal DeBernardi the other a.m. The new car he was driving went out of control on Junipero Serra Boulevard, hit a couple of signs, careened across the street, took out 30 feet of fencing and went down a steep embankment. The car was heavily damaged, but Mark (thankfully) wasn't.

THE STAIRWAY FOLKS want built between Mira Vista Court and South Hill Boulevard will be handy, no doubt. Councilman Lou Papan raised a good point concerning it: Better have good lighting. If anyone ever tripped while negotiating the stairs they would bounce for an hour.

THE SHADOW REALLY DOESN'T KNOW, he's just wondering, how come South City's ex-city manager Tom McKenzie (who always impressed us as being a City Manager) was fired right after the controversial overpass issue was shot down? We're also NOT saying any decision was made on McKenzie's firing BEFORE Monday night's meeting, but gosh darn, that was the most spontaneous action Frank Bertucelli, Patrick Ahern and William Borba ever took, observers claim.

Some South City folks are already talking recall in the wake of the firing. Bets are it will never come off or will fail. Although the list of those who have beat a hasty retreat from South City government is growing, voters did go to polls last April and register their opinions. Question is: When will the dust settle in South City and things get back to normal?

The Post gives its columnists a great deal of latitude, offering its readers the benefit of knowledgeable, varying opinion. Their opinions are not necessarily those of The Post, which addresses itself to its readers only through clearly marked editorials.

Now Or Never

JAMES HALLEY

Post-Times Columnist

The following is an open letter to students attending college this fall:

The leaves are beginning to turn, and our college campuses to stir. By now, you have either returned to school or are about to. With you go our hearts, our hopes and our prayers.

In the past few years, growing cynicism, restlessness and destructiveness have interfered with education. Loving you and wanting you to be both successful and happy, a few suggestions seem in order:

You enter (or return to) a world unlike that we knew in our college days. You must, at an early age, confront problems that in our generation were reserved for a later time in life. The campus, once a sequestered sanctuary, is now a white hot focal point for many of the pressures of our society.

Nonetheless, your personal opportunity for inquiry, study, growth and training is now, or never. Our hope is that you will make the best of the coming months, and that you seek excellence in your personal development.

For, no matter what you intend doing (and whether or not your plans include profit-making motivations) the quality of your education and personal diligence will largely determine future success and happiness. If, for example, your plans include the laudable idea of working in behalf of the less fortunate, you are certainly going to be more effective with a sound education.

We are naturally concerned about some of the problems you must face.

The drug culture is sick, makes people sick, and is proposed by sick people. It's both a personal and a national danger, and we pray you get your enjoyment in other ways.

Original thought and the force of scientific doubt has enabled our centers of learning to reshape large parts of our society. The modern method of inquiry should, however, extend the same questioning attitude to doctrines taught by your instructors as to dogmas of the past.

Your campus homes may not be places of peace, and violence and terror may be nearby neighbors. But you doubtless understand the fragility of academic freedom and also of our fundamental rights such as the freedoms of speech and press. A free society cannot endure in the midst of terror. We hope you will not only refuse to participate in acts of violence, but that you will affirmatively do everything possible to preserve the peace of campus life.

You have a new and promising perceptiveness of things as they are and as they should be. Change is in the air, and the innovations of the future will largely come from your generation. But, improvement of our common lot can only arise from work, attentiveness, action and involvement, not from sulking, rioting and senseless acts of violence.

Finally, you should be reminded that your years of education are short indeed. There is a much longer time between 21 and 70 than there is between 17 and 21. You are now in training so that the rest of your lives can be usefully applied. Please don't do anything now that will ruin this opportunity.

Need For Regional Transit

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District, no stranger to constantly recurring crises and embarrassments — mostly financial — is now wiggling uncomfortably on the horns of a fresh dilemma.

Their own director of planning and research has warned the district's directors that further federal funding, vital to th continuation and extension of BART, may be cut off if the agency does not come to a decision to participate in regional planning for rapid transit development.

Understandably, this is a bitter pill for some of the directors to swallow. They have lively memories that in the formation of BART a number of counties in the bay region bowed out because they did not like the tax costs and distribution in relation to the benefits promised.

San Mateo County was one such county.

It is natural that some of the directors from the three counties that did stay in the BART district should feel that BART's own taxpayers deserve priority for any new or added service beyond that the district already is preparing. It is for this reason they are balking at taking BART into a new round of regional transit planning that very conceivably might find more urgent service needs of regional degree than those scheduled for perimeters of the BART district.

With all deference to their sensibilities on this point it may be suggested that, in the long run, BART is likely to fare far better from inclusion in regional transit than from exclusion. Regional problems are no less regional because they are segmented by political boundaries and their solutions must be regional in extent. Since it is quite generally agreed that rapid transit presents a problem of more cost than it can possibly return, the use of federal and state grants and other assistance is of vital importance. BART already has this experience.

In truth, BART is already party to a joint study, with San Francisco and San Mateo County, looking toward the extension of the BART system into San Francisco International Airport. Willingness to go along with this is hinged on the belief that it would be a profitable extension — and profit-making lines are going to be very needful.

The need for supporting funds, whatever their origin, is going to be paramount in bay area rapid transit.

Hesitant BART directors, whatever the justice of their position, would do well to forget their qualms. Whether they like it or not they are part of a regional problem that must have a regional solution and, thus far, there is no real reason for believing that other regional entities would be unfair in establishing priorities with sufficient revenue value.

The entire bay region needs rapid transit and BART has nothing to lose by joining, and sharing in, equitably and reasonably disposed regional effort.

WINDY ART SHOW — Pacifica Art Guild's annual show at the historical Sanchez Adobe last weekend was cut short when a sudden, freak windstorm painted a swath through the display. Above, some of the many Saturday visitors look over the offerings, while below is the same scene a few hours later as a single visitor views the clutter. Show resumed Sunday, but many of earlier exhibitors declined to return. (Post Photos by Donna Starr)

Why Do Children . . . ?

SAMUEL CHANDLER

Daly City Librarian

"Dropouts — Cop-Outs — Marijuana — Hash — Group grooves — Headlines — Demonstrations — Rebellion — Revolution — And, ad infinitum, analyses by amateurs and professionals trying to figure out with every cliche of language and concept why America's young of the privileged middle class — lavishly nurtured and emotionally corseted — rise to reject so much of what their parents and society offer them."

Thus reads the blurb of "The Music of Their Laughter." Roderick Thorp and Robert Blake set to give members of the high school generation their say. The results are interviews that contain some answers to such questions as "Why do children behave as they do? What are they thinking about? What goes on under their long hair and their pinched faces?"

Thorp and Blake record the comments about such subjects as fathers who are so intent on making money and gaining position they put their families on edge with talk of moving to bigger cities and better jobs, and about mothers who work so the family can have bigger houses and more cars, and about the drinking parties that seem more offensive to young people than using marijuana.

One of the girls is Sandy whose parents went together for three years before they got married and then had "all us children, bang, bang, bang. I asked my mother about that, and she said she never went to bed with anyone before she got married, and she doesn't expect me to, either . . . Well, Joanne's already gone and done that. Joanne's my younger sister. My mother couldn't have known about that from the way she sounded."

MANY OF THE INTERVIEWS deal with the subject of sex — Gail, age sixteen, tells how his parents fight until they can't sleep together — then he says, "I just don't know how it is between my parents — I figure I have something better with my girl." He relates that he tried to talk about sex with his father, but "he turned me off." This was after "the first time I had sex — you know, intercourse — with my girlfriend."

The interviews reveal that drugs are an obsession with the teen-age group yet none knows why. Frank, a seventeen-year-old, comes nearer to a reason for taking drugs than any other. "It's the way the mind thinks when you're tripping — Your thoughts go in a straight line in a set of events, in certain units — Your thoughts go A, B, C, D, and then they're cut, you know, something cuts it and the thought goes."

In commenting about the interviews, Mr. Thorp and Mr. Blake warn that the generation gap exists because the old America of the immigrants and their sons, who built the cities and defined the borders of the nation, is dead. Instead, a new America has risen with "a growing army of cataloged and numbered citizens of brand-new technocracy of the same name, a superpower already covered with blood and guilt."

"If the older America gladly identified itself with self-confidence and personal independence, then the newer America has been avoiding being identified with self-righteousness and personal greed."

"For the new citizens, the older America is not merely history or even a myth, it is an instrument of their oppression."

In "The Music of Thei Laughter," the people who will live all their lives in the New America get an opportunity to sound off.

A Personal Viewpoint

Overpass Defeat 'Healthy'

By BOB PETERSON

Defeaft of the overpass in South San Francisco last Tuesday probably was the healthiest sign for that city — ever.

It showed—to borrow from a commonly used phrase of the day—power to the people.

This power was evident in every precinct except two; these two were in the immediate area of the proposed overpass.

And, interestingly enough, these two Buri Buri precincts barely carried a yes tally; one by 43 votes, the other by 90.

TO SAY THAT the other 12 precincts overwhelmingly voted against the overpass and anti-pedestrian safety is absurd.

It would be more appropriate to say they are concerned about their city's government — and that's a good sign.

The vote said, like no individual could say, that private political promises in that city are on the way out.

Whether the three — Mayor Patrick Ahern and Councilmen William Borba and Frank Bertucell — have learned anything from the voter rebuff remains to be seen.

IT WOULD SEEM evident from the vote on the overpass that these councilmen are treading on thin ice; that the residents of South San Francisco do, indeed, want responsible government.

But neither should these same residents sit back and bask in the glory of their triumph.

Nor should the voters of the opposing sides remain indefinitely on opposing sides.

Instead they should unit and "ight" on the same city hall structure that affects all residents so that South San Francisco can attain its true potential.

And keep the vigil. It is the price of responsible government.

LETTERS
To The Editor

Editor, The Post:

Henry Salvatore called it right; with the antics of Jesse Unruh this past week. His childish behavior and his unfounded accusations make this man unfit to hold public office. His past record and his present behavior should be reason enough for the voters of this state to retire Mr. Unruh on November 3.

RICHARD A. BATTAGLIA,
South San Francisco.

Editor, The Post:

We can't say enough in praise for the efficiency of the South San Francisco Police Department. In the past six years that we have been in business in South San Francisco, when we have had to call for police protection and assistance, they have immediately handled the complaint with perfect timing (a case in point is the 100 mph chase last Thursday) and cooperation of the officers to solve the problem quickly. We have always been amazed and certainly satisfied with results in every incident. We are indeed proud of our Police Department and its officers.

Editor, The Post:

I write to answer your question posed in your September 9 letters column by Mrs. Carol Hamelin of Pacifica: Why Do Americans Give to UNICEF? We give (and more of us give more every year) because strict and economical UNICEF operating procedures insure that every donated cent and every cent of profit from the sale of greeting cards goes to help children in trouble. The UNICEF philosophy is that most of the world's problems are coming from adults who didn't have a chance as children. If we solve the problems of today's children, we won't have so many problems (including communism) from tomorrow's adults.

Falcons Open With 24-14 Win Over TN

SPORTS

By PETE BARSOCCHINI

A renaissance of sorts occurred on Friday on the Terra Nova High School football field.

In this day and age when such historic rebirths are passe, it was most rewarding to watch the Crestmoor Falcons open the new decade with a 24-14 triumph over the host Tigers.

The Falcons have won very few games in their seven-year history, non-league or otherwise, and Friday's duel could be the start of something new for Crestmoor.

Under new head coach John Browne, Crestmoor looked highly organized, well spirited, and quite determined. They scored three of their touchdowns in the first quarter and managed to add another in the third stanza. Terra Nova tallied early in the second period and late in the fourth.

"I'm not surprised at the victory," said Browne. "We're a very determined ball club," he added. "Of course, I'm very happy with the win, though," he added.

The Falcons wasted no time in asserting their new image. They received the opening kick and on the first play from scrimmage Toby Garza, a halfback, shot around left end and went 45 yards for the score. Crestmoor scored on two of the next three occasions they had the ball on short runs by Dennis Carollo and quarterback Jim Jarvis. The Falcons failed to make one conversion attempt all afternoon.

Terra Nova tallied in the second period. QB George Yaron tossed an 18 yard pass to end Bud Papadakis shortly after the Tigers had intercepted a Crestmoor pass.

The Falcons made their final tally on a spectacular 60-yard punt return by George Ama. The Tigers ended the scoring with their finest drive of the day, going 81 yards in 17 plays.

The Tigers were not without their bright spots Friday even though the Falcons had control of the contest for its entirety. Halfback Kevin Fowler carried the ball for eight of the 17 plays on TN's final touchdown drive. Quarterback George Yaron was excellent in spots and Papadakis also had a fine afternoon.

But the game belonged to Falcons and they won't soon forget it, for a week anyway.

LITTLE LEAGUE AWARDS — Tony Varela, 12, of Ed Cordero's National Little League team and Dan Di Cello, 12, of the Linda Mar Merchants' team in the American League admire each other's trophies, presented at Terra Nova High in Pacifica on Friday by Loren Lehr, president of the Pacifica Little League. Varela, "most valuable player," won the eight games — including two no-hitters. DiCello, a pitcher and catcher, was the American League's MVP. (Starr Photo.)

Odd Balls Triumph In Women's Play

The Women's Slo-Pitch Softball League, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division, is dominating action at Westlake Park every Sunday afternoon.

The Odd Balls came from behind in the last inning of play to overtake the 66 Sluggers, 10-8. Doubles were hit by Sharon Cassidy, Pat Safford, and Jenny Strauss while Pat Scott lead the Odd Balls in fielding. Joann Stamps connected for a homer and sister Gloria Stamps hit a triple to spark the Sluggers. Angie Baca of the Sluggers drove in two runs backed by great fielding on the part of Loretta Anderson.

Coast Golf Classes On

The Pacifica Recreation sponsored class will meet at the Pedro Point driving range on Tuesday and Friday mornings from 10 to 12. In addition to the longer shots the range has a place for chipping putting and sand trap work.

A full course covering all the shots is covered each day. Beginners are readied for play in a few weeks and special attention will be given to experienced players who are having troubles.

The class is open to coastside residents and neighboring communities.

Rams Throttle Aragon, Serramonte In Victory

Coach Matisi Keeps A Vow To His Sons

Picture, Related Story, Page 32

By JERRY LITTRELL

Westmoor coach Pete Matisi made a couple of promises to his sons on the Aragon football team before the Rams met the Dons Friday afternoon at Hillsdale School.

"They were giving me quite a bad time all week," Matisi smiled. 'So before we all left for school Friday I said if Aragon beat us I would resign my coaching job and second shoot myself."

"They were so confident that they offered to bring the gun to the game," papa noted.

Both Matisi's job and life are safe today thanks to a 35-7 Westmoor opening game victory that unveiled a devastating aerial attack that should propel the Rams to a second straight North Peninsula League title.

Aragon's hopes for an upset centered around the play of three talented sophomores in the backfield. Young Dave Mitisi, quarterback, and Bill Popin and Mark Chorpining, running backs. Before halftime the score was 35-0, Westmoor, and the three Super Sophs were on the bench with injuries.

Aragon marched on the first series with the big gainer being young Matisi's broken-play 25-yard scamper (with Coach Matisi screaming "He's not that fast" to his pursuing linemen). But in that series Chorpining twisted his ankle and was through for the day. Matisi fumbled a center snap, defensive end Jeff Orlich scooped the ball up and ran 50 yards for the initial Ram score.

Another Don fumble on the next series led to Keith Tatum's one-yard plunge after a 68-yard drive. When Aragon next had the ball Matisi tried a rollout jump pass near the sidelines, was blind-sided hard, and was through for the day with a hip-pointer.

Orlich added a third Westmoor touchdown on a 40-yard pass from Mike Swallow and it was 20-0 at the quarter. Then Popin, who was extremely impressive on kickoff returns and quick shots up the middle, was smashed hard on the kickoff return and left the game with a twisted knee. Exit soph number three.

Aragon's line had its share of moments though. Tony Matisi played the finest game of his short career against his old man as did Barry Goldman, Greg Komosaeck and Jeff Schaub. And with those three sophomores in the backfield, the Dons will be no pushovers for the next three years.

Westmoor found itself a halfback in reserve Tom Price while Tatum, a pure speedster, added a few moves since last year and was the leading rusher for the Rams.

Junior Bob McLennan faked the Aragon secondary on numerous occasions ending up with 70 yards in three catches while Orlich snatched three for 104 yards. It's doubtful that any team will be able to stop the Ram air game once Swallow gets loose.

An Effortless Triumph By Serramonte

Lookout North Peninsula League, there is a talented stranger in your midst.

Serramonte High School celebrated its first season as a full-fledged member of the NPL on Friday with an effortless 20-0 tuneup over Bishop O'Dowd on the winner's field.

The neophyte gridders struck twice in the third period and once in the final stanza to give the school its first varsity victory.

Halfback Elliott Mark opened up the third period with a 30-yard scoring scamper and Wayne Martin followed near the end of the quarter with a 14-yard touchdown run.

Quarterback Ron Beltramo and Mark teamed up for a 70-yard pass in the final period to set up Beltramo's thee-yard scoring plunge. He also added the two-point conversion to make it 20-0.

"Our defense played an outstanding game," stated Regent coach Jack Thur. "They didn't have the ball more than two series at one time in the second half," he added.

Women Lose To The Men In Pacifica

The mighty Women's Liberation Front finally lost a battle — that is in Pacifica Softball — as Ski 'n Dive nipped the mighty Ladies All 9-5 in the 3rd annual men's and ladies' softball "fun night."

The Ladies were led by Pam Reagan, Kay Hoover and Sharon Anderton, each rapping two hits in the though loss.

The Sky boys' were led by the pitching of W. C. Crawford and the hitting of Gregg Kotta, Pick McRichie and Carson English, with three hits apiece.

Ski n' Dive edged Baby Zana, 10-9, to win the Pacifica show-pitch city title. Ski n' Dive were led by Carson English, Sam Woods and John Walters.

Babe Zanca clinched the southern slow-pitch title by nipping Romanos, 5-4. Zanca used the pitching of Kim Taufer and the hitting of Dave Stevens and Stan Taufer to win the championship.

Ski 'n Dive won the northern Divison softball championship, dumping the once mighty Playboys of Winter Tavern, 11-5.

WHEN WE LEFT WALTER MAILS last week, he had just completed an anatomy of Branch Rickey, emphasis on how to negotiate with him. If we may paraphrase, Rickey was tough and shrewd, but in his own way fair.

Mails didn't find all owners as tricky to deal with as Rickey. There was, for instance, James C. Dunn, owner of the Cleveland Indians the year (1920) Mails came out of the minors in late season and won seven straight games to spark Cleveland to a pennant, and then hurled 16 scoreless innings against Brooklyn to lead them to the world's championship.

"Mr. Dunn called me into his office right after the season was over and wanted to sign me right then. I told him I'd have to go home first and talk it over with my mother.

"He says, fine, so he presses a button and in comes a secretary and he says, make out a contract for Mr. Mails. Now he makes out the contract and dates it and signs it and says, when you get home and decide what you want, sign the contract and put the figure in there. And with that he points to the spot in the contract where the salary goes, and it was blank!

"When I got home, and talked it over with my mother and decided what I was worth, and then called Mr. Dunn, long distance, and said, Mr. Dunn, my mother and I have decided, and here's what I want, and he says, 'Why are you spending your money calling me for, put the contract in the mail, goodby'."

MAILS, OBVIOUSLY, liked the way Cleveland dealt with its salaried players, but wasn't too crazy about how it judged new talant in thoes days.

When he left Cleveland to return to the Coast League, the front office told him that if he could recommend anyone to them from the coast, he'd be in for a piece of the action.

"The first man I recommended was Ray Dremer from Oakland. I thought he was a good right-hand pitcher. After a while, I get a letter from Cleveland saying they had investigated Kremer and he wasn't fast enough. I wrote a letter back and told them that Kremer was without doubt a major league pitcher, and that whoever had given them that scouting report should be fired. Kremer ended up with Pittsburgh and was a sensation."

(Note: Kremer lasted in the majors for ten years, twice won twenty, won in double figures eight times, captured a total of 143 games, and was the key to two Pirate pennants.

"Now, the next guy I recommend is Earl Averill. So out comes Billy Evans, general manager of Cleveland. After he's out here watching games a couple of weeks, he says, 'I think you picked the wrong ball player.' I asked him who he would pack. He says Roy Johnson. I said, 'You pick Roy Johnson over Earl Averill and you should be fired. This guy Averill is sensational!' So, after pretty near having their arm twisted, Cleveland took Averill. The first ball pitched to him in the majors, he hits over the fence. That was a prophetic blow, because as you know, Earl made the Hall of Fame."

(Note: Billy Evans wasn't all wrong. Roy Johnson did spend ten years in the big leagues with Detroit, the Red Sox, Braves and Yankees and had a .296 lifetime batting average.)

PROBABLY MOST OF YOU READERS have never heard of Ray Kremer or Roy Johnson, which is illustrutive of a Mails' point, which is an old cliche but also an old truth: that fame is ffeeting.

"I get a kick out of these athletes who really think they can live in the manner to which they're accustomed outside of their sport. Some of them really think that their names will be on the public lips forever, and that they'll be able to go on living off their reputations as singers and banjo players and organists and as owners of boutiques, and what have you. Why, unless they're the Mantles and Dimmaggios and Mays, athletes of that stripe, most of them would be unknown two years after they retire.

"I'l never forget how this principle was driven home to me. I retired in 1940, after pitching for the Seals. The day after I retired I went to Mission High School to give a talk. After the talk, a kid comes up to me and says, Mr. Mails, did you really pitch for the Seals? I said, yes, I did. He said, well, I've been to many a ball game and I don't remember you."

If Mails had the power to do one thing for modern baseball, he would inject more "color into it.

He recalls the days when teams had longer infield practices and put on regular pre-game shows for the public; the "field days," when competitive pre-game events like circling bases, lungo hitting, long distance hitting, barrel throws etc. were big fan attractions. He laments the apparent passing of the "colorful" player ("I don't think it's the falt of the owners or commissioner — I don't think they'd stop players from injecting a little levity into the game — I think it's the fault of the players themselves") players like Jimmy Piersall ("He made his mistake when he started getting too personal with the umpires"), comics like Nick Altrock ("He was the homeliest man I ever saw . . . but people loved him," and Carl Sawyer, exhibitionists like Jackie Price ("He could hit a baseball standing on his head further than I could standing on my feet"), and basball characters such as Foghorn Murphy.

And he chuckles at such modern innovations as platooning. "The four toughest hitters I ever faced were Harry Heilmann, Babe Ruth, George Sisler and Ty Cobb. Please note that I pitched lefthanded and that three of those four gentlemen I just named batted lefthanded."

But despite all, Walter Mails still thinks that baseball in any shape or form, is the greatest game ever invented.

BASEBALL MISCELLANY: When baseball devised the four division alignment it said it was done to eliminate the possibility of two run-away races. Baseball was right. It has eliminated the possibility of two run-away races. This year baseball has developed into three runaway races, with a potential for four in 1971.

The general quality of baseball has declined to the point that Russ Hodges, who knew the game when it had only 16 big league teams, actually gets excited, now, when a team makes a good relay from the outfield, something which in the "old days" was considered merely part of the game, and something to be expected, not cheered.

What the kids learned in the minors a decade or so ago they are now learning in the majors. It's a shame that the fan must, nowadays, pay big league prices to watch apprenticeship in action.

Hodges, incidentally, is one of the few baseball people left who still call a curve ball a "hook."

Cincinnati always seems to shatter baseball's old maxims. One is that a club doesn't win a pennant with a rookie catcher. In 1961 the Reds won a pennant with two rookie catchers, Gerry Zimmerman (76 games) and John Edwards (52 games). It's also said that a team doesn't win the pennant without a good shortstop. This year, Cincy's most unsettled position is shortstop, where they've been filling the gap with a journeyman, a second year man and a rookie.

And if the Big Red power awes you, consider one more maxim-busting statistic . . . they have more stolen bases then any team in the AL, and are third best in the NL. Who said that power teams don't run?

SPEAKING OF POWER, has any hitter ever had a greater week than San Francisco Seal first baseman (and manager) Bert Ellison did in the period of May 20-25 against Salt Lake City in 1924? Ellison hit 25 hits in 37 times at bat, during the seven-game series, including ten homeruns.

Warriors Look Like Champions Again

By CHRIS STAVE

South San Francisco Coach Ray De Jong learned one thing from Friday's season opener at Clifford Field.

"I learned that we'd like to play the rest of our games like the first half of this one."

In that first half the Warriors slashed their way to a 40-0 lead over Overfelt of San Jose, the defending champions of the Mt. Hamilton league. The final score was 46-0.

Of course, Overfelt had graduated 10 of 11 All-League players and was going with a green team. But South City looked good enough to reassure the Warriors' rabid followers that one year out of the NPL championship was enough.

The Warriors struck early when, on first and ten at the Royal 45, senior quarterback Marty De Merritt tossed a 45-yard touchdown aerial to Tony Sotoa. That was his first pass of the game.

The next, and last, was a three-yard flip moments later to Rick Linamen for the second touchdown.

The Warriors played an opportunistic game, jarring the ball loose from Royal ball carriers eight times and recovering four. Lineman Joel Bruno ran 40 yards to score with one of them, a bobbled kick-off return, bare seconds after Anthony Ciardella had scored the Warriors' third touchdown. Shortly afterward the substitutions began.

De Jong's charges struck so quickly that they didn't have time to amass much in the way of statistics, but what there was was impressive.

Item: While junior halfback Hank Love was in the game he cracked for 77 yards in 10 carries, 7.7 yards per carry.

Item: Speedster Mike Senkir garnered 62 yards in three carries, one of them a 15-yard scoring romp.

Item: De Merritt could hardly have had a better night — two for two, 48 yards and two touchdowns.

Item: Overfelt's total offense was a mere 123 yards.

When the embarrassment was over, De Jong discontinued all pregame publicity: "Oh, I know they were supposed to be good. But what counts is what happens on the field, not what you read in the papers."

And what happened on the field was bad news for the rest of the NPL.

Mid-Season Form

Knights Defeat El Camino

By JERRY LITTRELL

Neither the Hillsdale Knights nor the El Camino Colts seemed aware of the fact that Friday night's meeting at Burlingame High Field was just the first game of the season—both squads appeared to be in mid-season form.

Both coaches had predicted a repeat of last year's close battle which the Knights won, 14-6. The predictions were deadly accurate. Hillsdale opened its 1970 season with another one touchdown victory over the game Colts, 22-14, in a game that was physically and statistically even-up.

There was very little experimentation on either side. Just good, solid football with some sound hitting. But the duo of Rob Dean and Ed Kertel in the backfield eventually proved too much for the Colts to handle. This Knight pair combined for 183 yards rushing and two of the three Hillsdale scores.

For most of the game it was a battle between defenses — Camino's front line and the defensive secondary of the Knights. Two standouts over the long haul were Hillsdale's Kevin Morford and EC's Bob Bolds. Morford continually antagonized the Colt backfield with his antics while Bolds jarred loose a fumble that set up the second EC touchdown and roamed the Knight backfield at will.

"The whole defense did well," Knight coach Ron Anderson said. "I was really pleased with Morford, though, and the offensive work of both Dean and Kertel."

Camino's defense was so tough early that at one point it had pushed the Knights back to a third-down and 63-yard-to-go situation.

Camino scored first after a 64-yard march when halfback Al Spitzer, who ended up with 20 totes, slipped over from the 12. The Colts then had a golden opportunity to break the game open early as tackle Bob Green and end Mark Spivey blocked a Knight punt attempt on the 29.

But Kertel intercepted an attempted Camino screen pass two plays later and raced 52 yards for the score. Dean's powerful run made it 8-6, Hillsdale.

Dean ended a beautiful sustained drive on the Knights' next series by scampering 26 yards for a 14-6 margin. The PAT kick was blocked and with less than two minutes left in the half Bolds knocked the ball out of a Hillsdale runner's grasp on the two and Camino tied it up on a two-yard run by Spitzer.

Camino's desperate last-minute penetration was stopped on the 29 when Skip House and Gordon Sievert buried Momii on a fourth-down play.

Nick Gust 'Sings In The Acapulco Rain'

Pity the plight of Nick Gust, who owns three restaurants and a small part of the Pacific ocean in the Rockaway Beach sector. Nick and his lively wife, Lorraine, decided to take a short vacation and set their sights for Acapulco, Mexico. Would you believe it rained every day of their six-day stay! So what to do but head for home. Ahead of schedule, the two tired people spent the final days of their vacation in their own backyard (which is where Nick acquired the terrific tan he now sports) .... Park Avenue Tours offers "Entertainment the Nevada Way" to those who take advantage of their transportation opportunities. Fun seekers driving to Lake Tahoe, South Shore, receive a substantial refund. Overnighters are also available with an excellent bonus refund. In addition, Park Avenue Tours features a daily eight-hour "Turn-around schedule from the Bay Area, Fresno, San Jose, Stockton and Santa Rose .... A pretty picture of organist Margie Brandon is on each cocktail napkin at Clancy's, and souvenir hunters are walking away with them. Clancy's entire supply of cocktail napkins, feature Miss Brandon in front of a green-three-leaved clover.

WEDDING BELLS — October 3 will mark the wedding day of June Lee Lyons and David Rollo, general manager of Stuart Anderson's Black Angus Steak House in San Mateo. Dave is the miracle guy of the restaurant chain because he has succeeded in making the restaurant a spectacular success in such a brief period. His lovely future bride, who looks like Ann Margret, is from Santa Rosa.

Hillsdale Inn's New Sunday Spaghetti Feed

A Sunday evening Spaghetti Feed is the newest innovation by Fred Williams, co-owner and catering manager of San Mateo's Hillsdale Inn. Intended as a friendly gathering event for the Inn's many faithful friends and patrons, the Sunday spaghetti dinner (it starts this Sunday) will be a regular feature every weekend. Also, guests will be treated to dancing and live entertainment, featuring a combo which is in the process of being selected . . . The Iron Horse, located in Maiden Lane, is within walking distance to the theaters, so dinner here would mean parking only once before enjoying the show. Owner Sam Marconi will see that your visit is a pleasant one. Open Monday through Saturday for both luncheon and dinner. . . . Cannelloni a la Bruno is one of the most-talked-about and frequently-ordered items on the extensive menu at Bruno's in Downtown San Mateo. A true speciality of Chef Bruno Fava, the Italian dish is offered on both the luncheon and dinner menus . . . Filet of Beef en Croute and Rack of Lamb Persille are among the specialties of the house at Atherton's Cote D'Azur restaurant. Excellent service prevails under the supervision of owners Dan Biagi and Rene Canabon. Entertaining at the pianobar in the intimate cocktail lounge Mondays through Saturdays is Hank Barron. Up to 40 persons can be accommodated in the Wine Dining Room for private parties.

A popular new after-dinner drink among celebrities dining at Phil Lehr's Pay-By-The-Ounce Steakery is Suntory Royal Coffee made with mellow, imported Suntory Royal whisky . . . Small, medium or large-sized pizzas can be ordered to go at Romano's Italian restaurant, located in picturesque Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. Enrico Romano and his mother, Enricketta, are the ones who prepare these mouth-watering specialties . . . John Lehman, Exposition Fish grotto exec., figures dove hunting is for the birds. John took off with Manager Augie Rosasco, downed a bird but had to scale a barbed wire fence to retrieve it. The seat of his pants impaled him on the barbed stuff. Augie and plenty of band-aids to the rescue . . . What's better than a take-home order of Foster's Farm-Fried Chicken — especially when the special includes enough food for a family of five. Offering one of the most selective menus in the Bay Area, Foster's, a "foodmark for over 47 years," features "around the world" pancakes; numerous breakfast enticers, including the special "Man's Breakfast" (a half-pound top sirloin steak grilled to your order and served with two large "AA" grade eggs, three buttermilk pancakes, and coffee all for $3.40); salads of many varieties, and complete dinners. You save by dining at Foster's in San Mateo, as Senior Citizens will attest.

Villa Chartier One Of The All-Time Favorites

Restaurants come and restaurants go, but since 1925, the Villa Chartier has continued to be one of the all-time dining favorites of San Mateo County. One of the reasons, says Manager Chuck Carroll, is that they don't stint on food. The dinner menu still lists: large chilled relish plate, soup, salad, entree, dessert and beverage. In this day of abbreviated dinners, the Villa Chartier stands as one of the best buys. The luncheon offers choice of soup or salad, entree and beverage. But among the pleasant new things at the restaurant is lovely dining room manager Kathy Eiselt, a willowy blonde ... Last Sunday was an exciting day for Mary Heggelund, an always-smiling luncheon waitress at Fabbro's in Redwood City. The occasion was the marriage of her pretty daughter, Linda, which took place in nearby Menlo Park ... "Lucky Lous" Dapalo, resident plankman at Millbrae's Blue Peacock, is still missing from the scene. Lou was in the hospital recently for an operation and has been out of action for the past few weeks. Understand he is expected to return to his normal duties in a few days — which puts smiles on the faces of his friends and associates.

Scottish is naturally the prevailing leif-motif throughout the three dining areas (The Fireplace Room, the Red Room and the Bonnie Dee) at Scotty Campbell's restaurant in Redwood City. Uniformed waitresses (dressed in checkered kilties, knee socks and tartars that represent the various clans), serve such specialty dishes as Pepper Steak (one of Chef Salvador Sandavol's choicest dishes) and the Gourmet Platter for Two. Co-owner Mary Lou Francis has taken her esoteric hobby, collecting antiques, and made it an interesting part of the restaurant's decor ... Colmas' Red Turtle is the newest addition to Bright Lights' roster of fine dining establishments. Located just off Mission, at 1 San Pedro Road, The Red Turtle features family-style dining (includes soup, paste, a selection of salads from the salad bar, entree, dessert and coffee). Owners Walt Zimmer, his mother, Mary, and Ray Pletz invite you to enjoy a pleasant dining experience in cozy surroundings. Service is exceptionally friendly and congenial ... Singing songs of his own creations, Anthony Newley returns to the South Shore Room at Harrah's Tahoe Thursday night. With Newley will be The Primo Family, and Brian Farnon and his orchestra. Comedian Joey Bishop appears through Wednesday night. Show times are 8:15 and midnight every night except Sunday, when the show policy is 6 p.m. and 10 p.m.

GROCERS' TOURNEY

The West Bay Area Grocers Golf Tournament is set for October 5 at the Green Hills Country Club, Millbrae.

This event will be a "Shot Gun" start at noon, following brunch.

Numerous trophies and dozens of prizes will be awarded winning golfers after dinner in the Club House.

To assure participation, grocers and allied tradesmen affair reservations should be sent immediately to the Bay Area Grocers Association, the sponsor, at 4170 Piedmont Avenue, Oakland, according to the general chairman, Leo Musso of QFI Stores.

Judo Starts In Daly City

The Daly City Recreation Division will continue its boy's and men's judo program for 1970-71.

Classes for boys nine years thru 14 years will be conducted at the War Memorial Community Center on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from 3:30 to 5. Classes for young men and adults 15 years and above will be held at the Westmoor High School Gymnasium on Tuesday evenings from 7:30-9 p.m.

A Golf Class In Daly City Resumes

The Daly City recreation will offer another adult golf instruction class, designed for beginning golfers with very little or no experience.

The program will begin October 6 and 7 with two sessions — Tuesday from 7-9 p.m. and Wednesday, from 10 a.m. to noon.

This program will run for six weeks.

Cost for the program is $10 per person, to cover instructor fees, materials, special equipment and driving range fees.

It is not mandatory, but strongly recommended that each participant provide his own golf clubs and equipment when needed.

Program content includes lecture, demonstration, two sessions at Colma Driving Range, films, and a nine-hole tournament at completion of program. Indoor sessions will be held at the War Memorial Community Center.

All persons interested in participating in this program should sign up with the recreation division office before the deadline date of September 25. Enrollment will be confirmed upon receipt of registration fee.

Grid Family Returns To Normal Again

Fatherly concern surfaced only once on Friday as Westmoor coach Pete Matisi watched his two offspring playing against his Rams.

Seven minutes into the game Dave Matisi, his sophomore son who has earned the starting quarterback job for the Dons, went high in the air for a jump pass and was tackled before he came back down. The hit forced him out of the game with what appeared to be a painful hip-pointer.

Matisi dispatched a team manager after several worried glances towards the opposing sidelines to check young Dave's condition.

Earlier the soph qb had sprinted around right end for an impressive 25-yard gain. "What's wrong with you people?" Matisi kept yelling all through his son's run. "He's not that fast. Get him."

Later, Matisi said:

"It was awful last night (Thursday) at the house," Pete said. "No one was talking to anyone. We just sat around and gave dirty looks to each other. Things will be back to normal now, I hope."

At least until next year.

THE POST'S S-P-O-R-T-S

Yellow Cab Asks Another Rate Boost

Increasing operational costs were cited Monday as the prime mover behind the Yellow Cab Company's latest bid for a fare hike in Daly City.

The City Council granted Yellow Cab a similar fare hike only last year and understood at that time the city would "enjoy" better cab service for its residents, newer vehicles plus local drivers for the company would receive parity pay with San Francisco drivers.

Charles L. O'Conner, vice president of operations for the company, said the Daly City fleet was now made up of cabs no older than 1968 and that one-third of the entire local cab fleet was new. He said employees were now getting the same fare-ratio pay as their counterparts in San Francisco.

O'Conner added that complaints had almost stopped since Yellow Cab opened its local Daly City office at the corner of Junipero Serra Boulevard and Knowles Avenue.

Together with Daly City Yellow Cab manager Augie Ferber, O'Conner painted a grim picture of the company's dwindling revenues and backed this up with a seven month operating statement which indicated the company actually lost money on its Daly City venture.

"To meet these continually rising costs and decreasing revenues, (the company) wishes to file a new taxi meter rate schedule," O'Conner informed the council during a public study session.

The proposed rates would drop the mileage from one-fifth of a mile for 60 cents, to one-sixth of a mile for the same price. Subsequent travel miles also will be cut to give the company a wider margin of revenues, according to the application.

It was pointed out by O'Conner that Daly City would not be the only city getting hit with a fare hike.

San Francisco, which has ordered all cabs in that city to install bullet proof shields in cabs, will likely get hit harder, O'Conner said.

Each shield will cost Yellow Cab Company some $350 installed.

And O'Conner doesn't think they will cut down on holdups of his drivers, he told the council.

"The union (local 665) garage and service employees) has told us to install them so that's what we are doing. But I don't think they (the shields) will stop the holdups. All a gunman has to do is reach out the back window and point the gun at the driver through the front window," O'Conner said.

But O'Conner quickly explained the bulletproof shields are not the primary reason for the fare increase in Daly City.

The justification for more money, he said, was price of unleaded gasoline his company will soon start to use has jumped one cent per gallon, and the drivers' union recently signed a new wage and fringe benefit agreement with Yellow Cab Company.

The council is expected to act on the request at its next regular meeting Monday night.

Gunmen Hit D.C. Company

Two armed gunmen, one carrying a blue lunchpail, held up the Beneficial Finance Corporation in Daly City Monday afternoon and fled with some $200 after forcing two employees to lie face down on the floor.

Police said the two suspects walked into the company office at 6350 Mission Street shortly after 1:30 p.m. and asked about a car loan.

They approached manager Henry Holmes and clerk Anne Pagantalan, brandished guns and demanded to know "where's the cash?"

They were directed to the cash drawers at the front of the office and after grabbing the bills forced the two employees to the rear of the office where they were orderd to lie face down on the floor.

One of the gunmen, armed with a .32-caliber revolver, produced a length of rope as if to tie the victims, but changed his mind and put it back in his pocket.

The two suspects fled in a white late model sportscar, police said.

One of the men was described as 25 years old, bearded, 6' 2" wearing a leather jacket and sunglasses.

Police surmised the suspect used his lunchpail to carry the gun.

Bomb Hoax For Reagan In Daly City

Daly City police wrote off as a "complete hoax" a bomb threat aimed at Gov. Ronald Reagan's noon appearance at the War Memorial Building in that city September 15.

A phone call was received by police communications less than two hours before the governor's arrival and security police, assisted by a bomb disposal squad, combed the building.

They failed to find a device of any kind and informed Reagan's personal security force they considered the threat a hoax.

Police said the caller had "a young high-pitched voice."
